

ALLIES ABANDON BIG DRIVE NEAR SOMME, SAYS BERLIN

TEAR PRODUCING PROJECTILES USED BY KAISER'S FORCES

(BULLETIN)

Berlin, July 22—(Via London)—The German army headquarters staff in the official statement issued today claimed that the great uniform Anglo-French attack on the Somme sector in France has been abandoned.

London, July 22.—Apparently the Germans are preparing for further attacks in an effort to check the Allied offensive in Northern France.

London today reports an intensive bombardment of the British lines at places, gas shells and tear-producing projectiles being freely used. The British guns are replying vigorously.

The afternoon bulletin from Paris ignores the Somme front, where the French presumably are busy consolidating their positions on the ground won from the Germans in Thursday's assault.

In the Verdun sector the Germans attacked a French position south of Damloup, northeast of the fortress, but were repulsed. They are heavily bombarding the Fleury and Fumin wood sectors in the region.

German attacks on French trenches at Fillemort in the Argonne and Northwest of St. Die in the Vosges were repulsed.

Germans Admit Suffering Defeat

Berlin, July 22—(Via London)

An attack by the British against the Germans at Fromelles, north of Labassee, on Wednesday, resulted in the loss by the attackers of more than 2,000 men killed and nearly 500 men taken prisoner, according to a statement given out by the war office today.

The statement admits that the German line along a front of about three kilometers (2 miles) south of Hardecourt, was driven from its first trenches into its second trenches. Enemy forces, the statement says, have penetrated into the German salient at the wood of Varmandovillers.

German Attacks Are Repulsed

Paris, July 22.—A strong German attack northwest of St. Die in the Vosges, was repulsed last night by the French, the war report of today says. On the Verdun front the Germans bombarded.

Waterbury, Conn., July 22.—The fairy tale of "Babes in the Woods" has been duplicated in the woods near Lakewood Park, this city, by

Andrew Yankauskas, aged 9, and his sister, Mary, aged 8. The children left home Tuesday to go fishing, since then they have lived on wild berries and have been sleeping in the woods. Their parents had given up hope, believing they had been drowned. They were located today by a policeman.

This Is Too Much! Stogies To Cost More

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 22.—An increased price of tobies has been announced by local manufacturers. Tobies which are now selling three for five cents, will sell at the rate of 2 for that money. Manufacturers said that the advance was caused by the cost of material and a shortage of labor, many women having quit work in the toby factories to enter plants where munitions are being made.

According to those who have arranged the demonstration, 40,000 and 50,000 persons will march through Market street, the city's central thoroughfare. The demonstration, as planned, is non-military with no uniformed ranks excepting those of the students from the business men's military training camp at Monterey, California.

WOMEN EAGER TO TRY BACK TO NATURE LIFE

MISS EMILY HAMMIS & JOE KNOWLES

New York—Forty women have asked to join Joe Knowles, the American Robinson Crusoe, who will soon start again for the wilderness with no food, no tools and no such foolishness as clothes. INFANTILE PARALYSIS IS CLAIMING MANY CHILDREN IN CITY OF NEW YORK

New York, July 22.—There were more deaths in the epidemic of infantile paralysis during the last twenty-four hours than at any time since the inception of the disease four weeks ago. Since ten a. m. yesterday the plague killed thirty-nine children in the five boroughs of New York City. There were 135 new cases.

The plague took a big stride in Manhattan where there were ten deaths, the largest number yet reported. In the Bronx there were five deaths. A marked increase was shown in Brooklyn, the seat of the disease, and cases and deaths in the other two boroughs indicated that the epidemic, aided by a wave of high humidity, was becoming more widespread. Cases to date total 2,602 and deaths 558.

TALK OF GERMANY EVACUATING BELGIUM

Amsterdam, (Via London)

July 22.—Posters have been pasted on the walls of barracks in Ghent stating that negotiations have been opened by United States and Germany for the evacuation of Belgium, according to the Echo Belge. According to the posters Germany is prepared to withdraw from Belgium with the payment of an indemnity of 40,000,000,000 marks. The Echo Belge comments sarcastically on this proposal terming the proposed indemnity, "a mere flea bite."

ALLIED WARSHIPS ON WATCH FOR DEPARTURE OF THE DEUTSCHLAND

Norfolk, Va., July 22.—Allied warships off Cape Henry awaiting departure by the German submarine, Deutschland, after a night of slow cruising during which their searchlights were played over the entrance to the Capes frequently, at daylight today quickened their speed and resumed their regular north and south patrol.

It is estimated that the ships are today from eight to ten miles out. At one time last night one of them, presumably a French ship, moved into within five miles of the Virginia beach, coming closer to shore than she had at any previous time. It was impossible at that distance to determine her identity. She had four funnels. The other ship, which is of a darker color, and is supposed to be British, carries three funnels.

Despite reports from Baltimore that Count Von Bernstorff plans to visit the Deutschland again next Wednesday, German sources here maintain it will be far out in the Atlantic by that time. Further more they say the Bremen then will be in some American port.

Baltimore, Md., July 22.—Little activity was noticeable this morning about the pier at Locust Point where the German merchant submarine Deutschland has been almost constantly during the moored all ready, it is believed, past week, with a full head of steam up.

U.S. WANTS COMPLETE ANSWER

Washington, D. C., July 22.—If Great Britain's memorandum regarding mail seizures now on its way to Washington from Ambassador Page deals only with specific cases but neglects to discuss the principles for which the United States contends, as has been indicated in forecasts of its contents, the American government will press for a complete reply making it plain that it considers delay in answering the American note inexcusable. It was made clear at the state department today that a partial reply will not satisfy the United States.

Little Oddities Unraveled From Life

It was a bright spring morn'g of sprouting pumpkin, when the rich bottom land of plants where David Tipton, for the Ohio valley was reeking with rapidly growing plants. The ascending mist of early morning formed a white turban on the crest of the Kentucky hills, which stood out in bold relief against the harmonious background. Myriads of brightly plumed birds were flitting about gathering material for their nests. Delicate-bellied wild flowers, spotted the fresh green of the meadows.

On this particular morning, which was many years ago, an ambitious young man, none other than Judge Thomas C. Beatty, probate court, strolled out into the arena of life "to kick up the dust."

And in a pair of new overalls, a hickory shirt, a pair of breeches and a broad-brimmed straw hat, the young man strode bravely, hoe in hand, to a two-acre and the work was completed. And the two-acre patch was painstakingly clean. The young man leaned on his hoe and surveyed his work with satisfaction. It was then when the "boss" came stalking down the path to see what "the young school teacher" had accomplished.

"Well, Tom, did you finish?" hailed Mr. Tipton from the path.

"Yes, sir. The whole thing is finished," proudly replied Tom.

"Not a weed left," exclaimed Mr. Tipton on reaching the patch.

"But Tom, see here. You have cut all of the pumpkin plants and have left the weeds."

This was Judge Beatty's first experience as a farmer. But it was not his last one for he remained in the employ of Mr. Tipton all that spring and summer and then taught school during the winter.

Fellow Who Claimed He Was Robbed Fined; Police News

After hearing the testimony of four witnesses, Floyd Jackson, a negro claiming Williamson, W. Va., as his home, was fined $10 for disorderly conduct by Mayor Kaps Saturday morning. Jackson came into police court several days ago and filed an affidavit against a fellow named Martin Isbrandt, charging him with stealing $19 from his pocket.

Jackson claimed that he met Isbrandt in a North End saloon and played a game of pool with him. Later, he says Isbrandt held him up and took $19. Isbrandt said he played a game of pool with Jackson but did not know anything about his money.

Four witnesses testified that they saw Isbrandt with considerable money while he was playing pool with Jackson and that Jackson did not have money.

Mayor Kaps told Jackson that he believed the charge was untrue and warned him that he could not come to Portsmouth and "pull off a stunt like that." He then fined him $10 for disorderly conduct.

An affidavit charging Sherman Rice with assaulting Victor Combs was filed in police court by his father Frank Combs. Rice pleaded not guilty and the boy was asked to tell his story.

Combs claimed that he and several companions had gone into an orchard, near Spring street, to get some apples and that he remained on the outside while the other boys entered.

Rice, he says, caught him, beat and kicked him. This Rice denied, saying that he had caught the boys in his orchard and had ordered them out.

The case was dismissed, Rice was warned not to touch the boys and the boys were instructed to remain away from the orchards.

Two men giving the names of Phil Herder and Floyd Evans were arraigned on charges of intoxication. They pleaded guilty and were each fined $5.

George Spaulding and Clifford Stewart were the names given by two men fined $10 and costs on a charge of fighting. Spaulding, who says he is employed at the Washington hotel, claimed he was walking down Second street Saturday night and became embroiled in a fight. Stewart said that he noticed a fight in front of the Washington hotel late Saturday night and went to see it.

Spaulding, he claims, was proclaiming his prowess and struck him. Stewart says that he then struck Spaulding.

GEEKS PLAN TO SHOE POOR "KIDS"

Members of the Geeks held an enthusiastic meeting Friday night and plans were laid for a minstrel show, which will be held next winter, the proceeds to be used in furnishing shoes for the poor kiddies of the city. The Geeks "shoed" 300 kiddies last winter. George and C. C. Sank, minstrel producers were present last night and they will more than likely have charge of the minstrel. A committee composed of the Messrs. Si Straus, Wm. N. Gableman, L. C. Peel, Aronhold Schapiro and Adam Pfau was named last night to complete arrangements for the minstrel. At the conclusion of the business meeting the Geeks enjoyed one of their famous social sessions.

He would concentrate the booths on Chillicothe and Sixth streets; running them north on Chillicothe street and east and west of Sixth street. A Vicious Pest

Get a 15-cent bottle of Tollo Water from the drug store and take about a third of a tumblerful in a glass of plain water before breakfast. In thirty minutes it will start the liver acting freely, your headache will be relieved if once, because it flushes out the bile, really bathes the liver, leaving it clean and fresh. Then you can eat breakfast and really enjoy it, and there won't be any gas or discomfort afterwards.

Concentrated Tollo Water comes from Dawson Springs, the famous Kentucky health resort. It does not act by irritation, like calomel and other strong drugs that weaken the system, but by dissolving the obstructions and bathing the liver as nature requires. To remove the bile that has been absorbed into the blood you should take a wineglassful every morning for several days. It will clear up the skin, your tongue will lose its furry coat and your natural healthy color will return. Then an occasional glass before breakfast will keep your liver clean, your bowels regular and your appetite good.

Mrs. Kitchen Denies Story About Eloping; Threatens Arrests

A woman who said her name was Mrs. M. A. Kitchen brought the following to The Times, saying some people thought a recent story was about her. The letter, which speaks for itself, is as follows:

"I have tried to live honest and pay all my bills. I have worked at all kinds of work. Was born and raised in Kentucky by good religious father and mother. There were 12 children in the home and I am the oldest one. I have three children, one little girl dead, 8 years old, two children living and both married, one boy and one girl. I have been married 14 years and have lived in Portsmouth 6 years, came here in 1910. I owe a few bills and if the neighbors make me any more trouble I will have them arrested, for I want to get my bills paid. It seems like some people delight in nosing in my business and leave their own business all undone. If everybody will sweep out their own dirt they will have no time to waste to sweep for me. Also remember this has to stop. If people mix in my business and a certain man writes a certain letter for my husband I will have him arrested just as soon as I can for making me trouble at my home. So the next trouble that Mrs. Kitchen has there will be some one arrested for making her trouble."

OBITUARY

Mrs. Anna Snyder Augustin.
Death at 9:30 Saturday morning claimed Mrs. Anna Snyder Augustin, wife of Joseph Augustin, a well known citizen, who resides at 709 Fourth street. While Mrs. Augustin had been in poor health almost five years, her condition did not assume a serious phase until two weeks ago. She became worse Thursday and practically hovered in the shadows the past forty-eight hours.

It was five years ago when Mrs. Augustin was taken to Rochester, Minn., and was operated upon by the famous Mayo Bros. She was only afforded temporary relief and shortly after her arrival home she again became ill and had practically been an invalid ever since. Mrs. Augustin had been bedfast for nine months, but she bore her suffering with Christian fortitude. She never once complained of her fate and for many weeks had been sweetly resigned to it.

Mrs. Anna Snyder Augustin was born October 21, 1861. On September 20, 1887 she was united in marriage to Joseph Augustin, who, with one daughter, Madlyn, survive. Two other children were born to this couple, Theodore and Virginia but they passed away in infancy. The deceased is also survived by one brother, John Snyder of the Portsmouth Banking company and three sisters, Mrs. Adam Buch, Miss Mary Snyder of this city and Mrs. John Lang of Columbus.

Mrs. Augustin was a member of the St. Mary's Catholic church and of the Altar and Rosary society of this church. She was a devout Christian woman and will be missed. To know Mrs. Augustin was to be her friend. Possessed of a friend-making disposition she made them wherever she went. Her cheerful, radiant smile never deserted her even in the darkest hours of her illness. She was always bright and cheerful and her many little acts of kindness that so vividly mirrored her true nature will linger long in the memories of those who knew her best and loved her most. A truly good woman passed to her heavenly reward when the eyes of Mrs. Augustin closed in everlasting sleep.

The funeral services will be conducted from the St. Mary's church Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock and the last rites will be in charge of Rev. T. A. Goebel. Interment will be made in the Holy Redeemer burying ground in Greenlawn.

Interesting Account Of A Colorado Trip

Stockdale, O., July 22.
Through the courtesy of your most valuable paper I wish to give my friends a little sketch of my idea of Northwestern Colorado. We left Portsmouth on the eighth of June in company with Mrs. John Lutz, of Portsmouth, who is an aunt of Earl Rice, the young man whom we went to visit. We found the latter and his young wife well and hearty. He owns 320 acres of mountain land which he has all fenced in. He was quite fortunate in locating there as he has several large springs of pure cold water, sufficient to water hundreds of cattle which is the main business of that grazing country. They raise some wheat and oats but no corn. We were surprised to see the quality of cattle that they raise in Northwestern Colorado. We attended a large cattle sale while there and found two year steers of the Herford breed that brought $84 per head and then when the cattle were sold they put up a herd of ten buffaloes. They brought $400 apiece. They were fine specimens. On the 23rd of June we had a drive here in Ohio in March and as we returned over the mountains on the 14th of July we passed through the snow sheds on top of the Rockies. We came through snow nine feet (of course drifts). The altitude was eleven thousand seven hundred feet. The scenery of these mountains cannot be described by pen or pencil. It must be seen to be appreciated. We found fine ranches about fifty miles down the western slope of the Rockies. They are 7000 feet above sea level. We never knew what good fish were until we ate those mountain trout that we caught in abundance from mountain streams fed by those snow capped mountains. WESTIE BROWN.

THE MARKETS

TRADE REVIEW

IN LOCAL FIELDS

Cincinnati, O. July 22.—Trade conditions as found in the Cincinnati fields and vicinity by the reporters under the direction of Bradstreet are contained in the following review issued by Bradstreet:

Cincinnati
Paper jobbers complain of high prices and usual summer dullness—collections are good. Many lines of manufacture are feeling the effects of competition of foreign contracts and making more effort for domestic trade which seems easy to secure. Building lumber is in good demand as the season is ideal. Hardware dealers are enjoying a good trade during the mid-season and receipts equal to demands. Wholesale liquor dealers are busy looking after their customer's wants and report some nice deals made during the week. The exportation of alcohol has slackened up somewhat and distillers are adjusting their output to meet the requirements. The International Rotary Convention this week has brought thousands of visitors to the city and department stores are doing a brisk trade. Offerings in the local barley tobacco market were very light, sales being held on two days only. Dry goods—There has been a further improvement in the volume distribution of fabrics due to an enlarged general demand. Pig iron—With domestic boundaries, orders are somewhat slow compared with the rush of the past six months; the steel industries still claim their usual large percentage of iron output. Blast furnaces working to full capacity. Optimism prevails and local jobbers are looking forward to a continued season of success. Coal market continues strong, only weak spot being domestic sizes. The outlook based on the usual car shortage in the fall of the year and with labor conditions as at present it looks like the market would rule very strong for the balance of the current year.

Portsmouth
Retail trade continues good. Steel Mills—Report business brisk, collections normal. Building is now being started on the $1,000,000 addition to a local plant, building blast furnaces.

Shoe jobbers—Business continues ahead of this season last year. Collections are very good. Grocers, Hardware, Building Supplies—Business continuing very good; collections normal.

Fire Brick Mills—Business considerably ahead of last year, prices firm and collections good.

Richmond, Ind.
Very little change is reported in wholesale or retail lines during the past two weeks. In the wholesale grocery lines prices are advancing slightly in certain lines; collections normal. Both building and steel hardware jobbers report brisk business. Collections fair. The present hot weather has made the retail wearing apparel dealers repeat orders in certain articles. Collections in the general retail trade good. Banks report normal demand for loans both time and demand paper. Local live stock market quiet; prices good. Crops are beginning to suffer from drought and farmers feeling uneasy for the result unless rain develops soon. The local factories still busy. One local machine tool company reports being $150,000 behind with their orders. Other lines are busy in proportion. Labor conditions good.

Lexington, Ky.
Jobbers of groceries, provisions and dry goods report increased business, collections good. Hardware is in good demand and implement dealers report business far in excess of last year. The sale of steam coal is reported about 75 percent in excess of last year, while the sale of domestic coal is about normal. Lumber is in good demand at higher prices. Crops are doing well.

NEW YORK STOCKS
New York, July 22.—The week end session opened with very light dealings and few changes of importance. Specialties again furnished the only noteworthy features. Industrial Alcohol, Willys-Overland, American Tobacco, American Linseed preferred and Hide and Leather preferred recording gains of substantial fractions to over a point.

American Writing Paper preferred and International Nickel were inclined to yield. United trials were barely steady and rails were almost utterly neglected. Tobaccoes were represented by Liggett and Myers, which rose over six points. Short covering accounted for the activity of today's operations although trading was again wholly professional and tilted to speculative favorites. United States Steel was the foremost feature rising to 86½, its best price of the week on transactions embracing numerous 1000 to 2000 share lots. Automobile stocks were prominent at advances of 3 to 10 points. Munitions were moderately better. Bethlehem Steel lost 10 points. Tobaccoes showed additional advances with some inquiry for beet sugar and similar issues. Rails played no part in the day's business. The closing was strong. Bonds were steady.

REVIEW OF WEEK'S MARKETS
New York, July 22.—This week's market reversed to a considerable extent the conditions of the preceding period, a fact generally attributed to the easing of time and call money rates. Special stocks which had suffered from continuous liquidation and concerted bear attacks made variable but for the most part substantial recoveries and other issues except rails which were consistently backward, also improved. Much of the recovery was scored at the expense of the short interest, the quick rebound of certain stocks indicating a scarcity of supply. Secondary steel and iron shares were unusually active but steel made comparatively little headway. Earnings of the steel corporation for the second quarter to be published next Tuesday are expected to range between $75,000,000 and $80,000,000, far surpassing all previous records.

The sluggish course of rails was more directly due to the belief that fresh foreign liquidation is imminent. Further receipts of British American securities were reported but whether these are to be offered to our investors or form the nucleus of a British loan remains to be seen.

Negotiations for a new Russian loan are said to be pending but the amount and interest rate are yet in the informal stage. It is known that American banks are considering the shifting of Canadian obligations now held in London to this market, but this project is also subject to further discussion. Railroad earnings for June will be issued next week and returns are expected to compare favorably with a year ago.

General trade conditions as reflected in bank clearings are much in excess of the corresponding period of last year.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS
Chicago, July 22.—Wild buying carried wheat prices up three cents a bushel today before any reaction set in. Continued unfavorable reports as to crop outlook in the northwest gave impetus to the advances.

Opening prices, which ranged from ½ to 1½ higher, with September at $1.15½ to $1.16½, and December at $1.15½ to $1.16½, were followed by a rapid further ascent and then a slight downturn.

The close was strong ¾ to 3¼, and 3¼ net higher with September at $1.19 and December at $1.21½.

Dry hot weather and the wheat strength lifted the corn market. After opening ¼ to 1¼ higher prices continued to rise. Corn close was unsettled at 1½ to 1½ net advance.

Oats shared in the bullishness of other cereals.

Provisions average higher with grain. Weakness of the hog market was virtually ignored.

Needle Or Bone Sliver Working Its Way Out

While ascending the stairway at her home several nights ago, Mrs. Mary A. Schuler, of the Schuler Hotel, 527 Second street, suffered a cramp in the muscle of her left limb above the knee. The pain was so severe that it was necessary to call a physician.

The muscle was in a knot and had pushed some foreign substance toward the surface skin. The foreign substance was so close to the surface that its sharp point could be felt by the physician, but when the cramp went out of the muscle the substance went away from the surface.

Friday an X-ray picture was taken and the developed picture shows that imbedded in the fleshy part of the limb is something about two and half inches long, and which in size resembles a needle. The physician is not sure whether it is a needle or sliver of bone which is gradually working its way to the surface. Mrs. Schuler has been resting easy the last few days. It is probable that an operation will be necessary.

War Department
Reports Say It Was Cold Blooded Murder

Washington, D. C., July 22.—War department reports today from Alpine, Texas, giving further details of the shooting of Lieutenant Colonel M. C. Butler by Harry J. Spannell, manager of an Alpine Hotel, say Colonel Butler was "absolutely innocent of any wrong, and whatever the cause might have been, it appears like a cold blooded, premeditated murder committed by a man crazed by jealousy."

The report says Spannell invited Colonel Butler to ride in his automobile in a seat beside Mrs. Spannell, and that Spannell then drove into the residential section of Alpine and killed both Col. Butler and Mrs. Spannell.

PROMINENT PROGRESSIVES ON REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE

The recently organized Republican Campaign committee to further the presidential campaign of the G. O. P. nominees contains many prominent Progressives in its personnel.

The Moose is represented by George W. Perkins and Oscar Straus, of New York, Chester Rowell, of California, Everett Colby, of New Jersey, James R. Garfield, of Ohio, and Harold L. Jukes, of Illinois.

The remaining members of the committee follow: John T. Adams, Iowa; E. W. Estabrook, New Hampshire; James A. Homanway, Indiana; A. T. Hott, Kentucky; R. B. Howell, Nebraska; Alvin H. Martin, Virginia; S. A. Perkins, Washington; Charles B. Warren, Michigan; and Ralph E. Williams, Oregon. James B. Reynolds, secretary of the National committee, will be secretary.

Postmaster Vallee Harold returned Saturday morning from attendance at the National convention of postmasters held this week in Washington. The convention was by far the largest ever held of its kind and had the signal honor of being addressed by President Wilson, at a banquet, which was also honored by the presence of cabinet members and a number of senators and graced by Mrs. Wilson, her step-daughters and the wife of the Postmaster General. President Wilson has taken on some flesh and is looking remarkably well and is in fine spirits.

A Proud Moment. "The proudest day of my life this is," said the woman who watched the third floor bride go out dressed in her prettiest frock.

"How do you make that out?" said another woman enviously. "I thought last Thursday was her proudest day. She got married then."

"Ah, yes, but today she goes calling for the first time and leaves one of her husband's cards with her own. Any married woman who can remember back that far will tell you that the first time she distributed the calling cards of some man who belonged to her was the day she truly felt her importance."—New York Sun.

Chaotic Condition Exists In China; Rebel Leaders Have Personal Ambitions

Peking, July 22.—Chinese public opinion has been in a strangely unformed state since the death of Yuan Shi Kai. The passing of the would-be emperor president was hailed with rejoicing rather than sorrow and efforts to enforce mourning have been somewhat farcical.

Every day it becomes clearer that many of the leaders of the revolution in the south, who declared Yuan Shi Kai's retirement was the chief end which they sought, had personal ambitions and are not giving Li Yuan Hing the support which might reasonably be expected of them. Many of the provinces have refused to rejoin the Union and new demands are made upon the president almost daily by political leaders in the rebellion provinces.

Lian Shi-Yi and Chow Tsu Chi, the two members of the government who have had most to do with finances in China have both resigned under fire. Liang Shi Yi has been the storm center of criticism for many months, and recently the Republican Press has assailed him bitterly. The board of censors has made an adverse report on his administration.

charging misfeasance and malfeasance in office. He is accused of various financial irregularities, and is blamed with the shortage of hard money which made it necessary to suspend specie payment on the notes of the bank of communications and the bank of China.

Tuan Chi Jui, the Premier, is also being attacked by the Republican press and charged with an unwillingness to have President Yuan Hing issue a mandate restoring the old Nanking provisional constitution and reconvening the national assembly provided for by that constitution.

While bitter criticism has not been directed as yet towards President Li Yuan Hing, there are many who are lukewarm in his support. Li Yuan Hing's position is extremely difficult. He has inherited a depleted treasury and a thoroughly organized government. Three factions are endeavoring to dominate Chinese affairs.

Premier Tuan Chi Jui has taken the position that President Li Yuan Hing should not attempt government by mandate after the manner adopted by Yuan Shi Kai.

Court May Be Asked To Prevent Mr. Hughes' Name Going On The New York Ticket

Syracuse, N. Y., July 22.—Progressive leaders gathered here for the meeting of the state committee this afternoon threaten to go into the courts if any action is taken to place the name of Charles E. Hughes or those of the Republican presidential electors on the Progressive ticket in New York state. Chairman James O'Connell of the New York county committee, said today that joint mandamus and injunction proceedings will be brought if an attempt is made to carry out in this state the action of the Progressive national convention.

The state committee according to Mr. O'Connell will be enjoined from placing the names of Hughes and Fairbanks on the state ticket and it will be mandamus to meet and name presidential electors for John M. Parker, the Progressive nominee for vice president. Committees to bring about the nomination of Judge Samuel Seabury of the court of appeals for governor in opposition to Gov. Whitman have been appointed in several counties.

In spite of O'Connell's prediction the indications are that Hughes will be endorsed. It is expected that a resolution inviting Judge Seabury to enter the Progressive primaries will be voted down and it is uncertain what will become of a similar resolution in regard to Governor Whitman.

Bainbridge Colby arrived here this morning and immediately issued a statement in which he stated that a number of former Hughes appointees were here working tooth and nails in an effort to deliver the Progressive machinery to the Republicans. He said Hughes leaders among the Progressive ticket were attempting to garrote and coerce others to follow them.

"I find on my arrival this morning a number of former appointees of Governor Hughes working tooth and nail, to transfer and convey the Progressive party machinery to the Republicans. They seemed surprised when I reminded them that we owed some duty still to our party and its loyal members."

"It seems to be one of the cards to try to force a Hughes endorsement. The plight of that true gentleman and fine Progressive Hon. Parker, who we have nominated for vice president, is recognized as sad, but it is dismissed with a shrug. Nothing—not eventually, must be allowed to interfere with the attempt of the 'Indorsers' to get next to the 'Candidate' and to 'point with pride' to what they have done."

"The same fatuous determination to do the worst possible which has involved the national committee in country-wide repudiation and exposed Mr. Hughes to the affront of having his communication to Californian Progressives tabled without reading seems to actuate his friends. I should call them his supporters and shouters—they can hardly be considered his friends."

"There will be a fight. The vote is a little uncertain. The effort to garrote and coerce the Progressive party will be resisted here as elsewhere and it will fail as it has failed wherever tried."

England Would Present Plea For Casement, Claimed

Washington, D. C., July 22.—When Senator Martine today again pressed his resolution to have President Wilson urge a stay of execution for Sir Roger Casement, Chairman Stone of the foreign relations committee said Ambassador Page had informed the state department the British government would resent any such representations. Senator Stone again opposed the resolution.

"For the United States to make official representations would do more harm than good," said Senator Stone.

"The state department already, on the request of Casement's sister has had Ambassador Page transmit a personal appeal for clemency to the British government. Ambassador Page has advised the department that official representations would not be received in a kindly way. If Great Britain is disposed to extend clemency to Casement it will do it on its own motion rather than have it said that clemency was shown at the request of a foreign government. To pass this resolution would be an international blunder."

Senator Martine offered a new resolution which required the president to advise the American ambassador to Great Britain to "use his kindly offices unofficially to ask for commutation of the sentence of death passed on Sir Roger Casement."

Senator Phelan submitted one to ask the British government "for clemency in the treatment of Irish political prisoners."

Senator Thomas objected to immediate consideration of both and they went over until Monday without action.

Independent Hungarian Leader Forms Party To Demand Peace For His Country

London Count Michael Karolyi, successor of Kossuth in the fight for Hungarian independence, has begun an agitation for immediate peace between Hungary and her enemies, with or without the consent of Germany and Austria.

Count Karolyi, says a Budapest dispatch to the Morning Post, has resigned from the presidency of the Hungarian Independence party and will form a new organization, which will demand peace without delay.

Seventy members of the Hungarian Parliament, the dispatch adds, are enrolled already in the new party's ranks.

A sensation was caused in the Hungarian parliament on December 7, when Count Karolyi demanded that the government make peace proposals to the enemy powers. He argued that Hungary had achieved everything she desired by the war, had saved the country from invasion and had preserved the monarchy and throne, and that the Hungarians had a perfect right to come forward with their claims for compensation.

MISSIONARY AND WIFE MURDERED

Kanikawa, Japan, July 22.—The anxiety of foreigners over the excitement following the murder by a burglar of the Rev. W. A. F. Campbell and his wife, Canadian missionaries, has been relieved by the energetic action of the police. Heavy reinforcements have been sent to the local authorities and the murderer is being systematically trailed in the mountains in which he is believed to be hiding.

The summer residents association, which is chiefly composed of American missionaries, have passed resolutions expressing confidence in the arrest and conviction of the murderer.

TO PAY INDEMNITY FOR SUSSEX VICTIMS

Lucerne, (Via Paris) July 22.—The Lucerne newspapers say that Germany and Switzerland have reached an agreement regarding the indemnities to be paid the families of Swiss victims of the sinking of the Sussex. Each government has appropriated an expert who will consider the cases separately and fix the amount to be paid.

The British steamer Sussex was torpedoed without warning in the English channel on March 4. Fifteen lives were lost and among the injured were some Americans. On May 30 Germany admitted responsibility and promised to pay indemnity to the Americans injured and punish the submarine commander.

LANDRITH IS RUNNING MATE TO MR. HANLY

Chicago, July 22.—J. Frank Hanly, of Indiana, and Ira D. Landrith, of Tennessee, nominees of the Prohibition party for president and vice president of the United States, are to be guests at a reception tendered by local prohibitionists upon their arrival in Chicago from St. Paul today. A conference of plans of the party is set for today and both nominees are expected to address the meeting. Landrith was chosen nominee for vice president by the Prohibition convention late Friday afternoon.

Lack Of Equipment Prevents O. N. G. From Leaving For Border

Camp Willis, Columbus, Ohio, July 22.—A week has elapsed since it first became definitely known that all Ohio National Guard organizations encamped here will go to the Mexican border as soon as outfitted with equipment "C," but it was announced today that since that time a carload of hats, underwear, hat cords and leggin-laces was the only consignment of supplies which has arrived at Camp Willis.

At a meeting of the Guard colonels, majors, lieutenant colonels and adjutants today it developed that much of the equipment needed to put the guardsmen in readiness for entraining orders is not available even at the governmental supply stations. It was quite generally predicted among officers that another week will elapse before any troops "break camp."

MAY ACCEPT CARRANZA PROPOSAL

Washington, July 22.—Acceptance of the Carranza government's proposals for a joint commission to settle difficulties between the United States and Mexico appeared certain today. An announcement was expected momentarily. The only delay apparently was for time for a reply from Carranza to suggestions that the proposals be amended somewhat.

There have been indications that President Wilson is for more general discussion than that involved in the proposed Mexican communication of July 11 just made public in Mexico City. The note would hold the commission to three subjects: withdrawal of American troops; arrangements of a reciprocal agreement under which troops of either government might cross the border in pursuit of bandits and investigation of the source of bandit raids on American towns.

TO PROBE THE INCREASED COST OF NEWSPAPER

Washington, D. C., July 22.—Newspaper publishers throughout the country were invited today by the Federal Trade Commission to be represented at a hearing here on August 1, at 10 a. m. on whether there has been an undue increase in the price of news print paper. The commission will conduct an exhaustive investigation, of which the public hearing will be the first step.

The investigation was ordered by a resolution of the senate. The commission sent word to 2,000 daily newspapers and 4,000 weeklies asking those who cannot appear to submit any information they may have in writing. The commission wants specific information of prices, quantities and any other facts bearing on the increase.

The commission is using all employees it has available to expedite the investigation and expects to report to the senate by October 1. The commission asks that any newspapers not receiving a copy of the schedules to apply for them or forward any information to the secretary.

CINCINNATI STRIKE ENDS
Cincinnati, O., July 22.—The majority of the 250 clothing cutters who were on strike for two weeks, returned to work today, a satisfactory agreement having been reached by the men and their employers. The remainder of the men who struck will return to work on Monday.

The agreement reached provides a scale of wages considerably in advance of the old scale and other propositions favorable to the men.

Plan Million Dollar Campaign Fund For Prohibition Party

Chicago, July 22.—A million dollar campaign fund, of which $250,000 has already been subscribed, is planned by the Prohibition party, according to a statement by Daniel Poling, of Boston, who, with former Governor J. Frank Hanly of Indiana, presidential nominee of the party, arrived here today. Other leaders who attended the national convention at St. Paul, including Ira Landrith of Tennessee, who was nominated for vice president at so were in the party. Mr. Poling, who was temporary chairman of the convention, said that one individual, has already given $50,000 which alone, he said, was $10,000 more than the Prohibitionists ever have spent in a campaign.

Mr. Hanly, talking at a reception given the candidates said that he would make a vigorous campaign. A meeting of the executive committee of the national committee will be held in a few days, Mr. Hanly said.

An announcement was expected momentarily. The only delay apparently was for time for a reply from Carranza to suggestions that the proposals be amended somewhat.

There have been indications that President Wilson is for more general discussion than that involved in the proposed Mexican communication of July 11 just made public in Mexico City. The note would hold the commission to three subjects: withdrawal of American troops; arrangements of a reciprocal agreement under which troops of either government might cross the border in pursuit of bandits and investigation of the source of bandit raids on American towns.

Herrick's Candidacy Meeting With Approval, Says Secretary

"From all parts of the state reports indicate that the candidacy of Myron T. Herrick for United States senator from Ohio, is meeting with popular approval and that he will be nominated by a large majority. Mr. Herrick has had much experience in public life, has always acquitted himself with honor and in his work in France during the early part of the war, before he was replaced by a Wilson appointee, his fame grew to national proportions. Ohio cannot do better than to send him to Washington and have two members of the upper house who will restore the state to the position of prominence it used to occupy," said Aronhold C. Shapiro, secretary of The Herrick Voters' League of Scioto County, Saturday.

"Mr. Herrick is too well known to the people of Ohio to require an introduction and it is decidedly refreshing to have men of his calibre interest themselves in the political affairs of the country. As governor of Ohio Mr. Herrick made a most enviable record and while Ambassador to France, his services to the country were valuable in many respects."

"During many years Mr. Herrick was the head of the Society of Savings in Cleveland, and under his guidance this institution grew to be one of the most influential financial concerns in the Central West, and while he is not now active in business or financial affairs, he is still a power in the industrial life of the state."

In speaking of Mr. Herrick, The Labor Advocate, official organ of the Building Trades Council of Cincinnati, said:

"Mr. Herrick has always been known to have the interest of the men who toil at heart; more than 90 per cent of his business as a banker being derived from the savings of the wage-earners. The Labor Advocate, Official Organ of the Building Trades Council of Cincinnati."

"We are extremely pleased," said Secretary Shapiro, "with the interest being taken locally in Mr. Herrick's campaign and with the rapidity with which membership cards in the Herrick Voters' League are being sent in."

SENATE PASSES THE LARGEST NAVAL BILL IN HISTORY OF U. S.

Washington, D. C., July 22.—The naval appropriation bill, with a three-year building program including the immediate construction of four dreadnaughts, four great battle cruisers, and 58 other craft, passed the senate late yesterday by a vote of 80 to 8.

It carries $315,826,843, or $45,857,588 more than the total as the measure passed the house.

Many proposals to curtail the enormous building increase written into the measure by the senate naval committee were defeated overwhelmingly, and as soon as final passage was announced the senate voted to insist on its amendments and send the bill at once to conference. The house is expected to insist upon its building program and a long struggle is in prospect before agreement is reached.

Two Democrats, Senators Thomas and Vardaman, and six Republicans, Senators Clapp, Curtis, Gronna, LaFollette, Norris, and Weeks voted against the bill, which has had the support of leaders of both parties during the week of debate that preceded passage.

A seven hour speech by Senator LaFollette against the measure and a clash between Senators Reed and Oliver over the proposal to print as a public document the Bethlehem Steel Company's arguments against a government armor plant delayed the final vote. On his return he vainly sought reconsideration, charging that Senator Oliver, as an owner of steel stock, had voted money into his own pocket by supporting the proposal.

Senators Tillman, Swanson and Lodge were appointed conferees on the bill. The house conferees will be chosen Tuesday, and daily sessions probably will be held thereafter by the conference committee.

Construction of 157 vessels, including 16 capital fighting ships, within three years at an estimated cost of $588,180,576, is contemplated in the senate program, the largest ever proposed in congress. Of the total appropriations in the bill, $110,726,160 is for the first year's building expenditures.

As it passed the house, the measure made no provision for a continuous building program and authorized only 72 ships, including five battle cruisers and no dreadnaughts.

The bill passed the house June 2 was reported to the senate by the naval affairs committee June 30, after conferences had been held with President Wilson, Secretary Daniels and navy department officials. Increases in the building program followed in a large measure the recommendations of the general board of the navy.

Improvement Plans Have Been Changed

Plans for the enlarging of the Boyer property on Chillicothe street have been changed. O. E. Boyer, who owns the property, and who recently closed a deal whereby he came into possession of the lots formerly occupied by the Knight restaurant and W. E. Treat saloon, has almost completed the work of razing the frame structure occupied by the restaurant.

At first plans were announced that a new addition would be built to the present building occupied by the restaurant. The addition is expected to be ready for occupancy by Korn saloon, but since then different plans have been made which will exclude the saloon property for the present.

Only a thirteen foot addition will be built. It will necessitate the building of only one wall on the north side, the present north wall of the ten cent store being torn out and converted the store into one large room. With the new addition, which will be two stories in height, a complete new front will be put in both buildings. There will be two large entrances, instead of three, as first planned. The addition is expected to be ready for occupancy by Korn saloon, but since then different plans have been made which will exclude the saloon property for the present.

New Brick Structure For Waller Street

Jackson Cropper, of the realty firm Cropper and Jordan, announced Saturday that work would soon be started on a three-story pressed brick building that would go up on Waller street, just north of the C. F. Turner commission house.

The new structure, which will be a credit to the North End, will have a frontage of 25 feet on Waller street and which will have a depth of sixty feet. The present frame structure until recently occupied by a shoemaker's shop and the frame storage room in the rear of the Al Bradshaw's saloon, will be torn away to make room for the new structure, which will extend to the paved alleyway on the east of the Bradshaw building, also owned by Mr. Cropper.

The first floor will be made into a large business room and the second and third floors will be converted into flats. More definite plans will be made by the first of next month.

place in this letter but it gives full history of the Rebels and Union men in war when Lincoln was president, all about the war in Tennessee, Kentucky, Maryland and West Virginia. The book has 1008 pages, printed by Osgood & Pearce and sold by Gilmore and Brush Co. in 1863. Now I will sell this volume or purchase Vol. No. 2 from anyone; if you will give me name, address and phone number of party that was wanting book of this kind in your column I will get in touch with them regarding the book.

EAST ENDER.

Dear Miss Wise: I am a girl of 23. I bought a pair of Gypsy button oxfords, all over dull kid with long patent tip. Do you think they will be worn any next summer—the all one color effect, I mean? Or would you advise me to exchange them for a two tone effect? I haven't worn them yet. What will be the main color in suits this fall and winter?

WANT TO KNOW.

It is impossible to forecast what will be the last word in shoes next summer. However black shoes are always quite correct. I think you will have your new shoes worn out long before next summer, so don't worry about them going out of style. All the staple colors will be worn this fall and winter—blacks, blues, browns and greens. It would be all right to bow at them.

Dear Dolly: Please tell me the meaning of the word Armageddon, and oblige.

part of the great plain of Esdraelon. This plain is located in Palestine, separating the mountain ranges of Galilee from those of Samaria, watered by the Kishon. It may be described as a triangle, having for its base the high hills of which Mt. Gilboa is the most important—forming the watershed between the Jordan and the Kishon, extending north and south from Nazareth to Jenin, a distance of about 15 miles. The plain has been of much importance in the annals of Palestine, armies and caravans from all directions must pass through it and owing to its level character it naturally became the field on which were fought the decisive battles for the possession or defense of Palestine and Syria. To the writer of the Apocalypse the plain was the battlefield par excellence, and there he beholds "the kings of the earth gathered for the battle of the great day of God."

Dear Miss Wise: Will you please tell me how to get grease spots out of old rose taffeta silk dress?

PEGGY.

First try placing a clean blotter on the spot and pressing with a hot iron. If this does not take it out gasoline or benzine will.

Dear Dolly: I am going to ask you a question. I have a steady friend and he comes every evening to call on me and when he comes he begins to get sleepy and I have to do all of the talking to keep him awake. He is a good man and works hard every day, but he says he is so sleepy all the time he don't know what to do, so I have been trying to think what is wrong with him. We went to a picture show and he went to sleep in the show. So I want you to tell me what is wrong with him. Many thanks to you.

A CITY FRIEND.

Would suggest that he limit his calls to one or two nights a week and go to bed early the other five nights. If this doesn't have the desired effect I do not know what will, unless you let him do some of the talking. You must be very tireless to listen to if he doesn't pay any attention to your chatter.

INDIANA THE VERDUN OF CAMPAIGN

Myron T. Herrick, A True Friend Of The Workingman

The Union Reporter, official organ of Canton, Alliance, Massillon, Salem and Tuscarawas county Labor Unions, prints this declaration for Myron T. Herrick for United States Senator.

MYRON T. HERRICK
Candidate for United States senator, subject to the decision of the Republican primaries, August 8, 1916

"During the entire career of Myron T. Herrick—in business or politics—he has always expressed himself very frankly and there was never a time when the gentleman has gone back on his stated opinion or promises.

"When, therefore, the governor has plainly expressed himself lately on questions regarding labor we can not but assume—yes, be convinced—that he will not change his mind on these matters in case he should be elected to the office he is now seeking—United States Senator.

"Our interests being so strongly for labor and for the full recognition of labor in matters of wages and conditions we feel that we would do injustice to the cause we represent, if we were to remain passive.

"Mr. Herrick, in giving his views on labor questions, stated that 'government, capital and labor must in understanding work in harmony if we are to fulfill our destiny as democracy; that 'social legislation must be advanced in the interest of the men and women who bear the physical toll of the nation.'

"He also believes that 'all classes of citizens must co-operate in a spirit of patriotism and subordination of self-interest for a friendly settlement of internal differences.'

"We have always maintained that any and all differences between labor and capital could easily be settled in a friendly spirit—if employers were less selfish and more and more willing to listen to the just demands of the toilers.

"And since Myron T. Herrick has shown that he is well aware of the means to give labor its due and that he is ready to stand on the 'labor platform,' as above stated, it is the plain duty of every laboring man, who has the interest of the masses at heart, to give Mr. Herrick his support, in order that we shall have a representative in the United States Senate who will see to it that the toilers' claims for recognition shall receive the consideration due and in that manner eliminate the continuous strifes which are always the greatest obstacles to this country's success."

LAST DAY TO REGISTER

This is the last day to register for the August 8 primary. Those who have moved since November, 1915, should secure a removal certificate. Be sure you have registered. This is the last chance.

Register between the hours of four to nine o'clock.

The registration throughout the city is very light. But few have registered. Most of those calling at the voting booths have secured removal certificates.

"SHADOW OF HER PAST"

Lina Cavalieri, or "La Cavallieri," as she was known years ago when she sang in The Folies Bergere at Paris and whose classic beauty is the marvel of men and the envy of women throughout the world, has been featured with her husband, Lucien Muratore, by the Pathe company in a Gold Rooster Play, "The Shadow of Her Past," for release in the week of July 24.

WIN YOUR SPURS.

Young men often talk of trusting to the spur of occasion. That trust is in vain. Occasions cannot make spurs. If you expect to wear spurs you must win them. If you wish to use them you must buckle them to your own heels before you go into the fight.—James A. Garfield.

INTERIOR PHILIPPINE CONDITIONS PICTURED IN LETTER BY LOCAL BOY

Conditions of the interior, Philippine Islands, are portrayed in a letter from Sergeant James Skidmore, received by Adam Erick.

The letter follows:

"Your letter and copy of The Times received and I will answer. I am glad, indeed, to hear from you and of the city of Portsmouth. I note that times are good in the city and I trust that they remain so.

"I am still stationed in Manila. I have not had the time to go inland as much as I have wanted. So I am not prepared to report on conditions as I would like. But I was out in the interior as far as Camp Stansburg, sixty miles from Manila, which is a brigade post. The Ninth Cavalry and the Second Field Artillery are stationed there."

"It is one of the best on the island. The quarters are good and the government has improved the conditions. The people are mostly farmers. They seem to be doing well. They are all friendly and the young people speak English. They have good schools and churches. They have a splendid police system and national troops are stationed in the different towns.

"Many of the native buildings are constructed out of bamboo. You can travel for miles out in the interior and see no other kind of buildings.

"Rice, sugar-cane and hemp are their main crops. Although they raise lots of other kinds of crops. You can see coconut and banana fields.

"There is a railroad running out of Stansburg. It is a single track road and is owned by English capitalists.

"Taking the conditions of the natives around Stansburg, they are excellent. They have improved as much as any could have expected. I am sure that the natives out near Stansburg are capable of self-government and I trust our government can find the way clear to grant them independence within the near future.

"I see the army increase bill has passed and is now a law. This means our people will soon have a larger army. I see that Mr. Hughes, New York state, is to run against President Wilson. While he has a good record and no doubt is a fine man, I trust President Wilson is re-elected.

"I saw where England has had losses on the sea, but still controls the seas. It was a sad loss for England to lose Lord Kitchener, as no doubt Lord Kitchener was the strongest man in England. It seems that Russia has come to the front again and is gaining some of her lost country back.

"We hear that Holland is mobilizing and ready for war. But Holland can't afford to fight the English, for if Holland should declare war, it would be the signal for Japan to take Holland's foreign territory and Holland has some rich colonies. She can't afford to fight the allies, for if she did, she would lose all of her colonies, besides get her ports and bays blockaded. So Holland can't fight the allies and she won't fight Germany.

"Our regiment has finished rifle practice for 1916. I was detained a few days ago with the national troops while they were on the target range, to mark and score for them. They are fine marksmen.

"Well, Mr. Erick, I will write you a more complete letter in a few weeks, as soon as the rainy season is over. I also caught it in Panama. We have two rainy seasons in one year. But such is a soldier's life. Our duty is to go where ordered and to obey orders and serve the U. S. A. SERGT. JAMES SKIDMORE, Company 'H', Twenty-Seventh Infantry, U. S. A., Manila, Philippines.

DRASTIC MEASURES ARE TAKEN TO PREVENT SPREAD OF CHILDPLAGUE

New York, July 22.—Quarantine regulations of increasingly severity due to fear of the spread of infantile paralysis were reported today from a number of cities and towns near New York.

At Mountainview, N. J., about 100 summer colonists from New York City with a few from Newark, have been ordered to leave their bungalows along the Passaic river and return home. Some of them who reached this city today said that a wreck on the branch railroad line prevented them temporarily from leaving Mountainview, and many who had gone to the railroad station were forbidden to return to their cottages. All houses where children from New York have visited were put under a month's quarantine. The Erie railroad which serves thousands of commuters has sent out a bulletin to all its station agents warning them to notify prospective passengers that children will be barred from most of the stations along the line in New Jersey and Pennsylvania. A total of 239 cases of infantile paralysis are reported from the state of New Jersey. The cases in Connecticut number 59. New York state outside of New York City, has 195 cases. The local health authorities announced that extreme precautions never before observed in a case of this kind are being taken at St. Anne's church during a celebration of the Novena of St. Anne. Crowds, as is the custom, have gone there to kiss a sacred relic. After each kiss the priest in charge wipes the relic with an antiseptic cloth. Children are not permitted to kiss the relic. It is applied to their heads.

More Seizable.

"Has the scientific study made much difference in your boy, Josh?" "Not as much as you might think," replied Farmer Cornsossel. "Out in the garden he calls everything by its botanical name. Mary Miles Minter, the dainty screen star, became the adopted mother of a large family of orphan kiddies recently during the filming of her first American Mutual picture, "Youth's Endearing Charm."

Richard Bennett, star of "Damaged Goods," and soon to appear in a new feature production by American, awarded the prizes at the Santa Barbara rodeo, July 4th. Hoping contests, broncho busting, relay racing and other ranch sports were offered by cowboy riders from the American studios.

Comic opera and George Ade's humor made famous the tiny kingdom of the Sultan of Sulu. Now Paramount audiences are to be taken into the land where the Sultan rules in the Paramount-Burton Holmes Travel Picture, "Visiting the Sultan of Sulu."

Cinderella has been retired as the fabled owner of the smallest foot in the world. The glass slipper of fairy tale fame would have been several sizes too large for Marguerite Clark, who will be featured in "Silks and Satins," the famous Players production for Paramount pictures.

Mae Murray is playing the part of a street wail in the new picture which is just being written and directed by Cecil B. De Mille. In this Miss Murray has an opportunity to display her wonderful dancing ability to the tune of a hand organ in the gutter of a Bowery street. Theodore Roberts is also prominent in the cast.

The Portsmouth automobile squadron bearing the reception committee welcomed Hon. Harry M. They will arrive about four o'clock and will go direct to the Washington hotel where a public reception will be held.

In its usual hospitable way, Portsmouth will entertain Hon. Harry M. Daugherty, Columbus, candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator, this afternoon and evening.

D. Willard Gustin, secretary of the Daugherty Campaign Club of Scioto County has announced that Mr. Daugherty would arrive in Hamilton this morning from Marietta and would come to Portsmouth by the way of Harrisonville in an automobile.

All those owning automobiles and desiring to assist in showing the distinguished visitor that Portsmouth is "The City That Does" are urged to meet at the Gallia street esplanade at one o'clock. The trip will then be made to Harrisonville, where Mr. Daugherty will be met and escorted to the city.

The Washington Hotel has been decorated in honor of the visitor and immediately after his arrival in the city, he will hold a public reception in the lobby of the hotel. Voters will be given a chance to become acquainted with him and discuss the issues of the day.

It is expected that several thousand people will gather at the Gallia street esplanade, Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock to hear the address given by Mr. Daugherty. The River City and the Lewis Brass Bands have been engaged to escort the candidate for senatorial honors on the Republican ticket and the reception committee from the hotel to the Gallia street esplanade. "During the afternoon he will meet the people of Scioto county at the Washington Hotel, and you are urged to come and meet Brother Daugherty personally and welcome him to the city.

"At seven-thirty in the evening, he will give a speech on Upper Market Square, next to the Security Bank. In case of rain he will speak in the Republican Club Room, over the Royal Saving and Loan Company. Attend the speech and give Brother Daugherty's meeting some pep and cheering.

"Brother Daugherty will mingle with Brother Daws after his address and lead a procession through the esplanade. Get in line! Do it for Daugherty."

Judge A. T. Holcomb has been selected to act as chairman of the meeting on the Gallia street esplanade and he will introduce the speaker.

With twenty automobiles decorated in flowing banners heralding the candidacy of Hon. Harry M. Daugherty for United States Senator on the Republican ticket, the Daugherty Reception Committee left Saturday afternoon at one o'clock for Harrisonville, where they met the distinguished visitor at that village.

John P. Eckhart received word from Mr. Daugherty Saturday stating that he had left Jackson in an automobile at 12:50 o'clock for Portsmouth. John Shauer, Harrisonville, will meet Mr. Daugherty at Harrisonville, and entertain him until the local party gets there.

Among the signs on the automobiles were: "Join The Daugherty Club", "Do It For Daugherty", "Ohio Is For Daugherty" and "Daugherty Deserves It."

BOY BREAKS LEG IN TWO PLACES

Cincinnati, O., July 22.—A trip replete with hazards and thrills was told by Mrs. Escoe Ervin, of Hillsboro, Ohio, who arrived here today from the Carolina flood zone. A detour of nearly four hundred miles in going from Asheville to Knoxville, Tenn., which consumed twenty-eight hours, was filled with many uncomfortable moments. At one point, while climbing a mountain, a huge boulder struck the steps of the rear coach, carrying them away and all but derailing the car on a steep hillside. A landslide also was narrowly escaped.

Cousins and Economy.

"Should cousins marry?" was the subject of an animated discussion at a ladies debating club the other night.

After a great many speakers had vigorously taken the negative side a prepossessing young lady, who was known to have crowds of cousins herself, spoke up boldly in the affirmative and threw fresh life into the discussion by declaring that she always did her best to encourage her own cousins to marry one another, as such unions were very economical.

"Economical! How, dear?" her clubmates cried in chorus.

"Well, you see," said the speaker demurely, "one wedding present does for both them."—Exchange.

To Open a Pocketknife.

Opening pocketknives is often very hard on finger nails, and a stiff bladed penknife or jackknife is practically useless to a boy if he can't open it readily. Tear off a piece of newspaper or writing paper about three inches square. Fold it across once and then slip the crease under the blade of the knife. Grasp the paper firmly between the thumb and forefinger, as close to the blade as possible. Then pull steadily as if you were opening the knife without the paper. If you do not jerk it the paper will not tear. In this way you can open many a rusty blade that has been useless for months.—American Boy.

Lucasville Fair Promises To Be The Biggest Ever

The Twenty-First Annual Fair of the Scioto County Agricultural Society, which will be held at the fair grounds, near Lucasville, promises to eclipse all previous attempts, according to an announcement made by Dr. J. N. Thomas, who has charge of the building programme for this year. He says that the fair board has received enough applications for live stock exhibits to completely fill every barn on the grounds.

Already several additional stables have been erected to take care of the increase in stock exhibits and every one in the county is urged to make a display. The live stock exhibit this year will be one of the features. Those who like to see blooded animals, will have a wide range this year.

The new implement building and restaurant is nearing completion and within the next few days all of the buildings on the ground will receive a new coating of white wash.

The race track was dragged Wednesday and placed in the best possible condition.

A new entrance on Scioto Trail, with a fifty foot gate, has been erected. This was done to eliminate the delay during the morning hours when the pike is lined with automobiles and wagons waiting a chance to enter the grove.

An elaborate water system has been installed and there will be sufficient good clean cold water for every one this year.

The Lucasville Fair this year will be held August 15-18.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Local German's View Of European War

(Written by Louis F. Korth, former Editor of The Correspondent.)

Friday, July 21, 1916.

The Allies offensive on the Somme is not proceeding at a very rapid clip. German counter-strokes are checking it. North of the river the British broke the German line, between Poiseures and Longueval on the road from Albert to Bapaume and got into the Delville woods last Friday, on Monday they were ousted again from most of the ground. The same happened to the French at Blaches, south of the river near Peronne, the Germans taking the offensive. London stated that they were now in a strong position north of Peronne, being protected by river and marshes.

Berlin reported on Tuesday that four heavy attacks of the British at Ovillers on the road to Bapaume and several attacks of the French at Blaches and Barleux toward Peronne to regain what they had lost a few days before broke down under the German fire.

The French attempted to flank Peronne to the south and gain the Amiens-St. Quentin railroad in the German rear but failed. The British have pushed further to Bapaume south of the Albert road than north of it. They tried to flank the Germans on the Maricourt-Bapaume road east of the other and cut them off at Longueval but the Germans with a mighty effort retook the sector and foiled them.

Bapaume and Peronne are the points the Allies are making for. They have neither of them yet. Between Longueval on the Maricourt-Bapaume road and Pozieres on the Albert-Bapaume road north of the Somme the battle now centers as to the British and Germans, while south of the river the fiercest fighting this week has been between Barleux and Soyecourt southwest of Peronne where the French on Wednesday renewed their attempt to get onto the much coveted road to the Somme bridge at Brie which leads to the railroad from St. Quentin to Cambrai and Lille the main artery of the German communications on that sector of the front. If they should succeed to get in the German rear at Peronne and the British be able to throw the Germans out of Bapaume the latter would be caught between the two and would have to fight for retreat.

By Thursday's Paris reports the French claim to have taken the German front line trenches from Barleux to the Brie pike, while Berlin says: "Repeated French attacks south of the Somme were repulsed, as the war of attrition has been going on." The German staff reports have always proved correct.

Berlin admits that the French have got into the German first line trenches at Hardecourt and Vandoeuvres.

To relieve the pressure at Verdun, which is becoming heavier from day to day, the French made renewed attacks on the Froide-Hauts which cost them thousands and brought no relief. The German staff says: "Not a man and not a gun has been removed to the Somme to help out." It is said that the French front at Verdun has been strengthened by Russians lately landed at Marais.

In the east General Hindenburg's Duena front has had to bear the brunt of the Russian drive this week. He reports: "South and southwest of Riga our brave troops have repulsed repeated Russian attacks of great force. The Russians have been heavily reinforced." Correspondents say that thousands of Russians were driven into the swamps at Kutharinenhof which skirt the Duena on both banks and allow the frontal attacks on narrow bridge roads. What is driven off the road is drowned in the swamps.

Southwest of Lutsk on General Jansingen's Galicia front and right wing the Russians had massed very heavy forces lately which broke an Austrian division on the road from Lutsk to Charukoff. The Germans by a counter attack stemmed their rush. The line was taken back behind the Lipa without pursuit and reformed in prepared safer positions. As usual the Russians have made a great victory with large captures out of the affair but their claim has been disproved. They were not allowed to advance beyond the Lipa.

On Thursday Berlin reported complete repulse of the Russians west and southwest of Lutsk and on the Stokod at Zarecz and the Kovel sector. The Russian offensive has been resumed with strong forces in the Kovel and Vladimir-Volynsk regions, London reports.

In the Skrohowa region on Prince Leopold's front positions which the Russians had overrun at the beginning of their drive have been retaken.

Petrograd reported on Wednesday that the Russians under General Telshitsky had crossed the Carpathian mountains in South-east Galicia and penetrated into Hungary. The Vienna war office states that in a battle on the Carpathian slopes near one of the passes they were defeated. Probably both reports refer to the same affair. Another Vienna statement says: "Southwest of Delatyn (which is on a road from Kolomea to the passes) our troops defeated the Russians, which had crossed the Pruth, and threw them back over the river."

Petrograd said on Thursday that a big battle was developing at Jablonica south of Kolomea and north of the passes into Hungary. The Austrian front from Jablonica to Zabic in the mountains and then turns east into the Bukovina.

Hard fighting continues on the Austro-Italian front but so far the Italians have not been able to retake any Austrian territory in Tyrol and Carinthia, either in the Alps or Dolomites, or achieve any notable success on the Isonzo. The Austrians repulsed three heavy attacks on the Boreola Pass in Tyrol. All eyes are just now on Albania where General Koves after a long wait has commenced a direct attack on Avlona, the Italian last resort in that country.

On the Saloniki front a very heavy bombardment has been going on lately but the long expected general action has not developed yet.

From the Turkish Caucasus army a repulse of Russian attacks on the left wing is reported.

Rechat Pasha defeated a British column at Basra in Mesopotamia and captured their stores.

Nuri Beys operations in Western Egypt and Tripoli have not come to a standstill as has been asserted. He defeated the Italians at Misratah on the Tripoli-Mediterranean coast and took 6,000 prisoners and 24 guns. The Italians were driven from the entire coast district between Misratah and Djedadid.

Berlin reports the sinking of six big ships and several smaller ones by German and Austrian submarines and the capture of a big British steamer off the Swedish coast this week. The Finnish port Reval (Rattie) and the Italian city Treviso were bombarded by aeroplane flotillas. Heavy damage is reported.

The German admiralty has announced that on July 11, German submarines sank a British auxiliary cruiser and three patrol boats and the Austrian admiralty reports that on July 10, an Italian destroyer was torpeddoed by an Austrian submarine. Five English trawlers which served as guardships at Aberdeen were sunk by German submarines.

The Austrian war office states that on the whole northeast front there were not as many men as the Russians claim to have captured. Large forces had been withdrawn from there for the Italian invasion and what was left was easily overrun by the Russian millions whose steam roller drive came entirely unexpected. (To Vienna, not to Berlin.)

"By their official accounts the Russians had lost since beginning of their present offensive up to July 1 on dead alone 262,000 men, including over 14,000 officers of the line and 384 staff officers, among them 17 generals and 23 colonels." Overseas Agency. Adding wounded, missing, sick and deserters their total loss must have been between 600,000 and 700,000.

In defense of the German chancellor against the attacks of the feudalist and expansion agitators, who insist upon a sharp submarine warfare, the semi-official Cologne-Gazette says: "The emperor holds to Von Holtz because he sees farther than his enemies and does not want to drive the United States into the arms of the Allies trade federation. He counts upon America's help in China and for future regulation of the laws at sea, the open door and the free seas."

The passengers of the Italian ship Duca degli Abruzzi, lately arrived at New York, relate that the crew in the Mediterranean lived upon a large buoy at night, which they took for a submarine. The question is raised, whether the ship is entitled to clearance papers as the shooting was an offensive act and under international law a merchantman has no right to resist search. She ought to be treated as a war craft.

The Bank of England has raised the discount rate from 5 to 6 per cent. Money is getting scarce in the realm. The normal rate before the war was only 2 per cent.

The Exchequer Chancellor told the commoners a few days ago that the British war cost had reached 30 millions a day.

Next week he will ask the house for another war credit of 300 million pounds, 1,500 million dollars, as London says. It brings the total for the war up to 2,682 million pounds sterling, or 2½ billions, in American money $15,410,000,000, over 15,000 million dollars.

General Robertson, chief of the British army staff, says: "The length of the war is a dubious proposition. I am not worried." But the chief of British finances must be when he looks at these figures. The world stands against the tremendous sacrifice of life and treasure.

According to the Russia Slovo Prof. Miljukow stated to the Duma committee for army and fleet after his return from London and Paris: "I have convinced myself that an agreement exists between Russia and her allies by which we are to have control of the Dardanelles." London cable. Russia is marching again in that direction but "It's a long way to Tipperary."

According to Swedish advices Russia has failed to make a loan in France, England and the United States. England declared that it needs every dollar herself. The Russian paper Retsch charges the United States with selfishness and ingratitude for her refusal.

Rev. Dr. Charles T. Aked, Mr.

Forde's right hand man in his peace mission to Europe, who has just returned, does not look for peace before spring. He says the newest successes of the allies will have no bearing upon the general course of the war. They are far off yet from real victory. It is absurd to talk of Germany's exhaustion. Nobody goes hungry. The people possess a remarkable noise and self-confidence. An American traveler in speaking of what he has seen and heard in Germany says in Jim Jams (periodical): "In six weeks of continued association with men in all walks of life I did not find a single person who evidenced any doubt or anxiety about the outcome of the war."

The Danish socialist leader Borbjerg, who made a trip through Germany, describes in his paper the conditions as he found them. High prices as everywhere else in Europe but no famine. He dined with his wife at Kempinsky, a popular restaurant in Berlin, at forty cents. They live in Berlin and Hamburg as well as one does in Copenhagen and in interior Germany as well as in Denmark, he says.

Isidor Herschfield, of New York, who was sent to Kurland, Poland and Galicia by the Hebrew Sheltering and Aid Society to study social and political conditions there, declares that they are infinitely better than they were under Russian regime. The best solution of the economic question in Poland would be separation from Russia. What the people need most now is the opportunity to make a living. Bread!

Crop prospects are far better in Germany this year than they were last season. Rye and potatoes promise a big yield, oats and barley, which were failures last year, make a good showing. There will be enough hogs to prevent a meat famine.

Sparkasse, organ of the German savings societies, states that deposits have never been as large as last year. The increase in 1915 over 1914 amounted to 3,500 million marks.

To replace cotton for textile manufacturers half a million acres have been sown in flax in Germany and crop prospects are good.

Enormous freight rates from England have led to a coal famine in France. From Wales to Rouen they have increased about 350 per cent during the war.

The necessity of regulating prices and consumption of meat in Germany by meat cards, as has lately been done, is shown by the fact that beef is as high again in western than in eastern Germany.

Max Nordau, the German writer, says: "America is assured of great economic prosperity after the war. Until now the great money market of the world has been London. Today it is New York. Wall Street regulates the exchange and interest rates of trading countries."

The special treaty between Russia and Japan which does not only shut the open door in China to Germany but to the United States as well is a subject of concern to American statesmen. Senator Lewis of Illinois says, it eliminates the United States from the Orient and establishes an Asiatic Monroe Doctrine.

Senator Stone, of Missouri, chairman of the committee on Foreign Relations, says of the Paris customs union he cannot escape the belief that the Allies have in mind a mutual policy beneficial only to themselves and not in accord with the interests of this country, that after the war they would work with each other for themselves not only against Germany but the balance of the world.

NO TREATY CONCLUDED, IS CLAIMED

London, July 22.—The report that a secret treaty had been concluded between Austria-Hungary and Germany providing for the unification of the armies and conduct of foreign affairs, is emphatically denied by the Hungarian press bureau, according to the Vienna correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph. The bureau characterizes the report as pure invention.

A Turkish Theater.

At Kadi Keut, the ancient Chalcedon, is situated the one and only Turkish theater in or near Constantinople, a rickety wooden construction capable of accommodating, however, a large number of onlookers. Performances are witnessed only by men, are given three times a week and take place in broad daylight—Argonaut.

thinks the treaty between Russia and Japan had the immediate result of sending Japanese guns to the Russian front, which accounts for the overwhelming superiority of artillery on the Russian side now. It says: "By sending artillery if they could not send troops the Japanese have acted as a loyal ally to Britain."

Our general staff in Washington, which is as competent as any other in war matters and a little more than some, is convinced that Germany cannot be downed. The Allies may reconquer Northern France and Belgium, and even this is doubtful, but they will never cross the Rhine, where the Germans would have to defend a much shorter line than the present one and could concentrate a million more men than are now scattered over a wide territory. The attrition theory of the Allies is illusory, as the losses in battle and by other causes in a long war would be made up by the yearly levers. Only a decisive defeat and rout of the Germans in open battle can save the Allies.

KEEPING ABREAST WITH SPORTING TREND

WHO IS GREATEST PLAYER?

QUESTION OPEN TO DEBATE

By GRANTLAND RICE.

As we dropped into the fastest there was the same old argument on that we had often heard before. They were trying to agree upon the name of the World's Greatest Ballplayer.

It was admitted at the start that so far as 1916 was concerned Tris Speaker had been of greater help to his club than any other man in baseball had been to any other team. But 1916 is only one year. And while the redoubtable Tris, of Texas, has been great before, there have been others just as great or greater.

DOWN TO TWO NAMES.

The argument as to the World's Greatest Ballplayer for the length of a career gets down immediately to two names. One is John Peter Wagner, the other is Tyus Raymond Cobb.

Wagner represents the National league in his debate; Cobb the American. And you can find all the statistics you want to back up the claims advanced by partisans of both stars.

WAGNERIAN CLAIMS.

Here are some of the claims entered by those who support Wagner:

1. Is the greatest shortstop baseball has ever known in defensive play.
2. Has batted .300 or better for 17 out of 19 years, with a good start on his twentieth campaign to make it 18 years.
3. Has led his league at bat eight years.
4. Has a 20-year batting average around .310.
5. At 42 is still a great shortstop.

with a batting average above .300.

6. Has made more hits and scored more runs than any players in the game.

COBB STATISTICS.

Here are counter claims made by those who support Cobb in the big debate:

1. Has broken all records by leading his league nine years in succession at bat.
2. Holds the record of the game for runs and hits made in one season.
3. Holds the league record for stolen bases.
4. Has broken up more games on the average than any player who ever lived.
5. Has a complete batting average of .320, against Wagner's mark of .310.
6. Has a greater yearly average of hits, runs and stolen bases than any player in the records of the game.

Larry Chappelle in Front

Larry Chappelle of Columbus is far in front of the other American Association batters with 374.

Thorpe, Milwaukee, leads the base stealers with 33; Holland, Minneapolis, and Bradley, Columbus, the sacrifice hitters, with 23 each; Gilbert, Kansas City, in home runs with eight; Demmitt, Columbus, in total bases with 134.

The leading batters are: Chappelle, Columbus, 374; Stowell, Toledo, 350; Smith, St. Paul, 335; Becker, Kansas City, 330; Beal, Milwaukee, 317; Daniels, Louisville, 309; Deal, Kansas City, 305; Lettlev, Kansas City, 302; Hardgrave, Columbus, 297; Evans, Toledo, 297.

PITCHING RECORDS

Leading pitchers for fifteen games in the American league are:

Player	Team	Won	Lost	Runs	Earned
Cullip, New York	9	1	1.51
Morton, Cleveland	11	2	1.92
Mays, Boston	9	3	1.80
Russell, Chicago	10	4	1.22
Ruth, Boston	11	6	2.82

Political Story.

Lord Morley tells a story of how a great political secret was kept by three poor Irish journalists. During the preparation of the home rule bill of 1886 Parnell asked Lord Morley for a draft of his main provisions for submission to half a dozen of his confidential colleagues. The draft was given, duly returned, and not a word leaked out. "Three of the men to whom I showed the draft were newspaper men," said Parnell, "and they were poor men, and any newspaper would have given them £1,000 for it. No wonderful virtue you may say. But how many of your house of commons would believe it?"—London Answers.

Claim Justices Can Only Bind Violators Over To Higher Court

The restitution of thousands of dollars in fines collected by township justices of the peace from automobile owners, is the request made of State Auditor A. V. Donahy by Richard H. Lee, president of the Ohio State Automobile association.

It is Lee's claim that township justices have no right to collect fines on speeding charges, but have the right when they believe a motorist guilty, only to bind him over to a higher court. Many justices have been accepting such fines, and Lee asks the state auditing department to bring out this amount in examination of the justices' books.

Following is Lee's letter to the state auditor:

"I desire to call your attention to the fact that a number of instances throughout the state have been called to my attention, where in justices of the peace, having no further police power than that enjoyed generally by justices of the peace under the laws of the State of Ohio, have been operating speed traps for revenue only;

that automobilists have been dragged through their courts in these matters, and without any jurisdiction in law, or in fact, have been fined and both the fine and costs collected, and this notwithstanding the fact that the law is clear that justices of the peace have no final jurisdiction nor any right to do other than hold the defendant under bond to appear before a higher court.

"In all of these cases, it is my opinion that the fines and costs collected have been wrongfully taken, and it occurs to me that your accountants should be instructed to look for violations of this sort, and require restitution by the justice, or take such other steps as you may deem advisable in the premises."

"Clubs in the state association are co-operating with police officials in the enforcement of traffic regulations," Lee said. "But the muleting of motorists by township officials must stop. Irregular practices by granting or ignoring officials only tends to lessen respect for the law."

Cadillac Agent Here

C. G. Robertson, agent of the Towle-Cadillac Company, Cincinnati, was in the city Thursday and Friday visiting local Cadillac owners. While here Mr. Robertson announced that hereafter, the Towle-Cadillac Company would extend the local owners the same standard Cadillac service that was furnished to the Cincinnati owners.

Reo Cost Very Low

Why, says an official of the Reo Motor Car Company, one of our dealers who handled two other lines last season—but who declares, most emphatically, he will handle Reos exclusively hereafter—tells us that the average cost to him per car on one of those lines was $60 and on the other $40—while Reo averaged in his case $4.75 per car per year!

And that wasn't all. The factor that Reo distributors consider most important is the customer—satisfied or the reverse. For you must know that though that dealer spent $60 to keep a certain car running he still could not keep the man to whom he had sold that car satisfied—not even by taking it back and standing the full loss himself.

He could not reimburse him in dollars for the delays, the disappointments and the aggravations he had suffered from that car.

So Reo cars will be sold in the future on a lesser margin from dealer to user (and factory margin has always been as close as was safe) than any other automobile in the same class or of higher price.

SCENIC BEAUTIES OF U. S. BEST ON EARTH

That the Americans who have been spending $100,000,000 a year on European tours have been paying a heavy premium for their scenic beauty, and have been going an unnecessary distance to get it, is the discovery made by the United States Department of Interior in its inventory of the wonder spots of this country. It is exposing the self-victimization of our citizens in no uncertain terms, and is preaching the sermon of home consumption of American scenery.

"This nation is richer in natural scenery of the first order than any other nation," declares Stephen T. Mather, assistant secretary to the Secretary of the Interior. "It possesses an empire of grandeur and beauty it has scarcely heard of."

The discovery of this grandeur and beauty by the motorists of this country is the sermon set forth by National Touring Week, the automobile movement that has seized our nation from the Atlantic ocean to the Pacific strand. The impulse for a general outpouring of United States motorists to visit the natural beauty about them which followed the inception of the movement indicates that the country is primed for a widespread appreciation of the scenic wonder of our homeland.

MAKES LONG TRIP IN A MAXWELL

With the speedometer of his Maxwell touring car registering more than 5,600 miles, W. S. Gilbreath, field secretary of the Dixie Highway association, motored into Detroit last week, after an extended trip through the south, where he has been preaching the gospel of good roads.

Naturally, Mr. Gilbreath sought those sections of the south where the travel was roughest to make his message more effective. He drove his Maxwell over roads that seemed impassable and the car responded to the severe test in great style. The Dixie Highway secretary, passing through Detroit called at the general offices of the Maxwell company to pay a personal tribute to the prowess of the car.

VIBRATING MOTION IS ELIMINATED

The 3400 R. P. M. motor in the new Chalmers automobile had practically eliminated the vibratory motion which is evident in other cars, according to local Chalmers owners. With the handsome new body with its luxurious upholstery, the Chalmers new model is one of the popular cars on the market.

BOTH TYPES SUCCESSFUL

"Both the Six cylinder and Twelve cylinder cars of today are successful and there is no occasion for a dealer selling one kind to try and depreciate the other type," said F. E. Bower, the Portsmouth distributor of National cars.

"The fact that one manufacturer has made a success of twelve cylinder cars is no reason another can not make a success of six cylinder cars. If a layman prefers a twelve cylinder machine, very well; he can get his money's worth in such a car, but there is no reason why the builder of a six should try to poison his mind against twelve cylinder cars as a class."

Something Different. "Fubudub has written a very unusual romance." "What's the startling theme?" "It's about a married couple who live most happily together."—Kansas City Journal.

Increase In Business

An increase of 38% in volume of business is announced in the new and striking newspaper advertisements being put out by the Firestone Tire and Rubber company.

How many people realize the significance of this? The Firestone people do a volume of around twenty-five million dollars yearly. For such an industry a years increase of even 5 to 10% would seem a splendid showing.

In their newspaper advertising the Firestone people point out and rightly, that such an increase means the delivery of genuine quality. It is an argument the mind of the business man understands.

OVERLAND WORKERS STAR IN PREPAREDNESS PARADE

A few days ago the city of Toledo held a preparedness parade, in keeping with similar demonstrations held throughout the country. An invitation was extended to the Willys-Overland Company to take part in this demonstration.

The invitation was turned over to a committee of employees, 40 in number. These men sounded the sentiment throughout the factory, found that it was in favor of such a demonstration, and made plans to take part.

All marching arrangements and decorations for the turn-out were made by this committee of 40.

As a result no part of the Toledo parade elicited as much favorable comment from onlookers as did the Overland section.

An additional honor paid to the Overland employees was the assignment to a picked squad of 400 from the automobile factory to carry the largest American flag, more than 150 feet long and about 60 feet in width.

Ford Car Used In Emergency

A Ford car recently figured in a very spectacular event in southern California and performed a work which probably nothing else but a Ford could do. Severe storms and floods had washed away six miles of roadway in the Santa Ana Canyon and seriously crippled the mammoth power plant of the Edison company that supplies electricity to that part of the state.

The only way of reaching the head works—so thoroughly had all roads and means of approach been obliterated—was through a six foot tunnel which is ordinarily used as a flume to convey the water from the dam down to the valley below. Here was a very tough engineering problem which was finally solved by P. H. Ducker, chief of transportation. He called one of the Edison company's fifty Ford's into service. The Ford was more than equal to the emergency. For thirty days it piled up and down this tunnel hauling in all 7,200,000 pounds of cement. On the car's very last trip, it caught fire and all of the woodwork was destroyed. The Edison company, however, has had the car rebuilt in slight recognition of the remarkable and picturesque service which it rendered in their emergency.

BUICK DEALERS RESPONSIBLE FOR SUCCESS

Collins Comments in the Buick Bulletin says:

It is realized at the factory that the men in the field, the dealers, have their fingers constantly on the public pulse, and that they are first to detect the signs which lead to the road of public favor. No matter how meritorious a product may be, the people must learn of that merit before a market can be obtained, and on the Buick dealer has rested the responsibility of analyzing that market and paving the way for the company to take advantage of it. Buick dealers have met that responsibility year after year, and they are still meeting it. Results show that they are meeting it with keener intelligence and with a broader grasp of the opportunities involved than are the dealers of any competing motor car company.

Evidence of this is furnished in the fact that the demand for Buick motor cars has been made practically unanimous. We have positive evidence that almost all prospective motor car purchasers who desire a car at anywhere near the Buick price go to the Buick dealer first.

The Nautical Idiom.

In "Glimpses of East Africa" Mrs. Ethel Youngblood tells an amusing story of a venerable Parsee who was on board a big liner going to England. STUDEBAKER MEETS ALL DEMANDS

It is comparatively simple to plan a car which will appeal to one, two or three thousand, or even ten thousand people, says W. J. Friel, local agent for the Studebaker, but to develop a car so good that it will meet the average motoring needs of sixty thousand discriminating people a year is a really great engineering and manufacturing task.

Such a car must have sterling high quality; it must be reasonable in price; it must be economical to operate and maintain. It must be simple and accessible so that it can be repaired, adjusted, and taken care of by the average owner without difficulty.

It must be beautiful to look at in order to appeal to the kind of buyers who select Studebaker goods.

If Studebaker engineers were building a heavy, high-priced car their task would be a simple one because, where the question of strength and power is concerned, they would merely have to plan first a big, heavy piece of steel to meet the strain, and then put in a big motor to carry the load.

But Studebaker must build its car as strong as the strongest and as light as the lightest. This is why Studebaker uses actually more high-grade alloy steel in the production of its cars than manufacturers do who charge four times as much for their cars.

Musical. It by no means follows that the person able to play a piece of music accurately is able also to sing correctly. Tune, like genius, is a gift of the gods, and many who are fine players, having mastered the notes mechanically, would cut a most ridiculous figure should they attempt to sing offhand even the commonest song, just as many who can sing with beautiful tone are quite unable to play on the instruments according to the scales.—New York American.

"Home of Character" No. 127

This attractive two-family house has the appearance of a single dwelling. The grouping of windows in bay and gables and the attention devoted to details of trim, porch columns, etc., are the distinguishing features.

The first and second floors are practically the same, except that living room on first floor has a well-lighted bay, while the second floor living room has a large alcove which is equally attractive. The dining room and kitchen are light, roomy and well appointed. Bedrooms and bath are secluded from the living portions of the house, and have large closets. There are separate heating plants for each floor in the basement. Attic and basement space is provided for each family.

A house of this type makes a desirable investment, as it can be built on a narrow lot and will bring in nearly twice the income of a single house.

A sleeping porch could be added at the rear for both flats at slight expense.

The Tallow Dip Goes Out!

A Boston firm, which operated the largest tallow dip factory in the country, which, of a fact, was about the sole survivor in this once general and flourishing industry, announced, last week, that it would discontinue the making of the candles. Thus another institution of the past yields to progress. A generation ago not only every well regulated, but most every family of every kind, kept a stock of tallow candles on hand, according to their prudence and means. Now most families, especially those, in town, have little knowledge of this mode of lighting and less use for it. That is rather strange for the tallow dip still remains with us as the measure of light. For we still speak and will so continue for many years, of a given brilliance as so many candle power, 16-candle lamp, 40-candle, 60-candle, 80-candle, 120-candle and 2000-candle are terms of hourly use, in speaking of electric illumination. And could things thus so intimately connected be so far apart. The tallow dip was a necessity, but it was a nuisance. Danger and discomfort were its accompaniments and qualities. Recalls the hunting for a match, a place to strike it, the melted tallow running down onto fingers and scorching them, the upsetting of the pesky thing when it was set down without its "stick," which by-the-way wasn't a stick at all, but a hollow tube with a base in which the candle was stuck, that is when the family had enough "sticks," but a family was never known to have enough for every candle in use. Well, say be there was one family that had enough, but memory recalls no instance where an extra candle and a stick could be found in speaking distance of each other. Still, we wouldn't speak altogether disparagingly of the tallow dip; it had its uses and it was mighty handy at times. It is not at all the same with the electric candle. It is absolutely the most wonderful of all inventions because it is a prime necessity and at the same time the best of all comforts and the finest of luxuries. You often hear people say they would like to have a taste of luxury—they can get it almost for nothing in the electric current. There isn't a particle of noise, dirt, disorder, confusion or annoyance about it, scarce so much an effort required to reach its enjoyment. Merely pressing a button brings a veritable flood of light, the cooling breezes to blowing, or the water steaming on the stove—things of more life and daily importance to you than that its moves the cars along the streets and across country, whisks the big wheels in industries, and talks clear around the earth and chatters through invisible space. It is the pleasant thing, the comfortable thing, the important thing, the useful thing, the necessities thing, the one luxurious thing you can demand in your home and know you are doing the most economical thing. Whether you own your home or rent it, you ought to see it has electric service.

We will be glad to talk to you anytime about how little it costs and what are its manifold advantages.

Site Bought For Another Hilltop School Building

Continued expansion of the city is admirably reflected in action taken by the school board at an adjourned meeting, when a strip of valuable ground on the hilltop, 300 by 300 was purchased from Judge Noah J. Dever as a site for a new 12 room school building.

The consideration was $15,000. The site is located between Off-nere street and Franklin avenue and on the north side of Kinney's lane. The new building when completed will virtually stand at the head of Baird avenue. Judge Dever donated sufficient ground to the board to dedicate a street to the west and to the north of the proposed building and an alley on the east of it. Competition in an architectural way is to be confined to resident architects and they have been asked to submit plans for the new building at a meeting the board will hold on Friday, Aug. 11.

At last night's meeting a resolution was passed authorizing the sale of $67,000 worth of bonds covering the cost of the new building. All members were present at last night's meeting, the Messrs. Purdum, Scudder, Nourse, Hudson and Jackson.

TWO MORE SHIPS SUNK

SHERIFF'S RUSE CAUSED PRISONER TO CONFESS

Edgar 12, and Hanzel 10, two sons of David M. Berry, Back Run, Jefferson township, who in a statement to the officials Friday admitted that he killed his neighbor, Madison Powell, Wednesday morning with a revolver, were taken back to their home Friday afternoon by Policeman John Nance.

Berry homes Thursday, nothing direct was in possession of the authorities until Thursday night when the statement was obtained. Sheriff Smith brought Berry out of his cell and in the presence of others requested him to relate all the things that happened on the morning of the crime. Berry began and told of the trouble he and his neighbor had several months previous to the shooting and then declared that he did not know anything about the crime and that the first he knew of it was when his boys came back.

So when Berry had finished his story, Sheriff Smith asked him several questions, to all of which he received the same answers. Suddenly Sheriff Smith employed a very clever "lead" which brought out the statement. "See here, Berry," said Sheriff Smith, "how do you account for your clothes being wet when you say that you were not out of the house that morning?" "I wasn't out of the house and my clothes wasn't wet," declared Berry.

The two boys were arrested on the afternoon of the tragedy and brought to the county jail as witnesses. Since their father made a statement in which he professes he shot Powell in self defense, the two boys have been allowed to go home.

By the aid of a clever ruse, Sheriff E. W. Smith obtained the first statement from Berry Thursday evening at the county jail. Although considerable evidence of a circumstantial nature had been obtained at the scene of the tragedy by Sheriff E. W. Smith on his visit to the Powell and

JURY DISAGREED IN LAND CASE

After deliberating eight hours, the jury in the case of Levi D. York against W. F. Seymour, suit for possession of some real estate located in the West End mill lot, reported to Judge. Will P. Stephenson, West Union, who is presiding on the local bench this week that they were unable to arrive at a judgment. This was ten-twenty o'clock Friday night. The case was submitted to them at 2:20 o'clock Friday afternoon.

At 8 o'clock the jury reported and informed Judge Stephenson that they were unable to arrive at a judgment and the judge sent them back to the jury room. Two hours later they reported with the same information. It is understood that innumerable ballots were taken all of which stood about six to six or seven to five. Milner, Miller and Searl represented the plaintiff and Judge Noah Dever and T. C. Anderson the defense.

Wellston Woman Run Down By Auto In Ironton, Injuries Fatal

Ironton, July 22.—Mrs. Gartrude Runkle of Wellston, who was struck by the C. C. Clarke automobile Friday about 11 o'clock died at the Kellar hospital about 2:10 p. m. yesterday as the result of the injuries sustained.

From all that could be learned, Mrs. Runkle and her sister, Mrs. Helen Barlow, left Wellston on the D. T. & I. Friday morning with the intention of going to Cabin Creek, W. Va., to visit another sister, Mrs. Anna McBrayer. After their arrival here which was about 11 o'clock, Mrs. Runkle left her sister in the D. T. & I. depot to go to the C. & O. depot to see when they could get a train for their destination. The accident occurred at the corner of Second and Center streets. Mrs. Runkle evidently was crossing from Edelson's corner across the street, and the Clarke car was coming up Second street and was driven by John Ralston Clarke, a grandson of C. C. Clarke. No one else was in the car at the time but young Clarke.

GETTING AHEAD IN LIFE

Many, many times we have heard men say that they work every day and that they are not able to get ahead of the game—that it takes everything they earn to keep the wolf from the door. We have seen many of these kickers loafing—not all day, but just killing in hours that could well be spent in improving their minds or doing some of the little things that are always to be found to do around the home if the man will only do them.

You all know the story of Abe Lincoln's life. You know how he studied under very adverse conditions, and the height of the pinnacle to which he finally climbed. We have in mind another fellow who did likewise. True he has not yet placed his feet on the topmost rung of the ladder of success, but he is pretty well toward the top.

We were raised on a farm. On the adjoining farm was a German family. One son early in life, took an especial liking for study.

He followed the plow in the field with the other sons of the family and the hired help. When the days were hot and it was necessary to rest the horses occasionally, that boy did not kill the time by swapping stories with other boys. He studied the book which he carried with him at all times. He was a great fisherman, and while he was seated on the bank of the river waiting for the fish to bite, he was pursuing some good book. Often he was to be seen wending his way from school studying as he walked. Coming home from school he would stop in the cornfield in the fall and cut corn until darkness was nigh, but when he took up his journey homeward his nose was again hovering over the pages of the book. That is the way that this lad gained his start in education. Today he is superintendent of the Portsmouth schools.

Frank Appel got on in life by improving his spare moments. Another case comes to the front. This time it is the progress of a day laborer. We worked alongside the man for two years in a timber yard, and have known him since we were a lad. But the greater part of his life has been spent as a railroad section hand. The man was industrious and saving. After several years of hard labor he saved the price of a lot and a modest home, the latter built partly on borrowed money. He did not depend upon his earnings as a section man. Many times we have seen him come home from his hard day's labor on the track, eat a bite of supper and then pound nails and saw boards until almost the midnight hour. Thus he worked. His modest home was soon paid for, and more rooms had been added, the latter all done with his own labor after his day's work had been done. Today that man has one of the prettiest homes with all modern conveniences that can be found anywhere.

So it goes. These two concrete examples are only two of many. They are examples of intensified work that enters into the life of every man who attains success. They got ahead in life by improving their idle hours. So must you.—Oak Hill Press.

ALL ABOUT WAR

A subscriber finds fault with the newspapers these days. He says nearly everything in the papers "is about war," and he wants to know if it would not be well to print less upon the subject of strife and more upon some other subject.

No, it would not be well to do so. War is the biggest subject in the world today. There are more people involved in it, there are more people thinking about war and the activities pertaining to war, than are thinking about anything else. There is more to be said upon the subject of war—and peace—than upon anything else under the sun. So the newspapers do well to print everything they can get upon the subject, especially since they are only serving the public by carrying the matter in which the public is most interested.

Nobody is more tired of war, and of the things pertaining to war, than are the newspaper people. The war has not been a benefit to the papers in any sense of the word. They have suffered financially to as great extent as anybody else—and have made no profit whatever out of anything pertaining to the strife. The correspondence that have been employed, the telegraph and cable tolls that have been paid, the increased cost of everything entering into the making of a newspaper—these things have fallen heavily upon the publishers of newspapers.

As for the boys in the offices, who have had to make the papers through these trying days, they have suffered mentally and physically far beyond what the average reader imagines. Never in the history of the world has it been harder to run a newspaper; never have there been so many anxieties upon the part of those in the offices; never have there been so many heart-breaking, health-destroying propositions arising from hour to hour. With the whole world on fire, with millions and millions of human beings involved, with empires at stake, with all industries trembling lest something happen to bring economic disaster to us all—it is not strange that those who sit in the offices and help to make the newspapers should be dropping away one by one from nervous prostration.—Columbus Dispatch.

KEEP COOL

Many deaths are reported in the larger cities because of the intense heat. It may seem almost like a joke to say that the remedy for this is to "keep cool." But it is a sensible prescription. Keep cool in the mind. Don't fret or get impatient or quarrel, but keep cool—that's the preventive. There is no sense in keeping irritating food out of the stomach if one allows irritation thoughts to get into his head. Keep company with the trees and patronize the hammock in the shade, and the old "sun stroke" will keep its distance.

How well will this advice fit now when we are just about to enter a political campaign. Keep cool. Just think that the country can get along without you. Your politics doesn't keep a star in its place. Your anxieties are the waves on the surface that are today and tomorrow are forgotten. Keep cool. The world will get along better by your doing so, and the big, blazing sun won't be half so mad at you.—Ohio State Journal.

Sketches from Life . . . By Temple

"Nix! Lady Y' Can't Dock There!"

IF THE MASKS WERE OFF

Do you suppose the time will ever come when all men and women are sincere and will say to one another exactly what they think? And do you suppose the world would really be any happier in such a time? Would the old man whose days are nearly spent be any happier, if he knew precisely what the younger folk think about him? Would the young woman walking in pride on the street or loitering in her limousine be happier, if she could read the thoughts of those she meets? Would the callers be happier if they knew what was said about them when they left—if, instead of a kiss and a "Come again, dear," there were a blow and "I hope you will never come again?" Would the people themselves who look an admiration they do not feel and speak compliments they do not mean be any happier, if all were known?

Probably, if conventionalism offered no restraint and all that one thinks were public property, especially the property of those whom the thoughts concerned, the world would not be a very pleasant place. We shall need the restraint of conventions and the veneer of politeness until we all do and think the right things. And that day, assuredly, is far off.—Columbus Dispatch.

It may be just as well that we have a heated spell occasionally, if for no other reason than that it has a tendency to make us appreciate our shade trees. It's worth noting that even the man who seems to take delight in chopping down, in a few hours, a tree which it may have taken the sunlight and rain a century to produce does mighty little chopping while the demand for shade is strong.—Marion Star.

Everyday Wisdom

A MOVIE VAMPIRE
AMONG HER PILLOWS

VAMPIRES

Nobody should be scared of a vampire. A vampire is a big bluff. She has timber elbows and sits among her thirty or forty sofa pillows and smokes two cigarettes. If a vampire comes into a man's life he should walk right up to her and say, "Oh, shoot!" and throw sofa pillows at her and shoot her away. Vampires say, "I seen" and "I ain't saw him." As long as they confine their conversation to "Do you love me? Do you love me? Do you love me, darling?" they get along fine, but the minute they branch out into the English language they show they didn't get past the sixth year in the grade schools.

If you go to moving pictures much, you would think the world was full of vampires. Moving picture actresses are of two kinds: the "awfully wicked" and the "awfully innocent." The latter wear curls and go barefooted until they are thirty and they have never been kissed, until somebody from the city falls off a cliff into their simple lives. Vampires, on the other hand, work twelve hours a day at being wicked. They get up about noon and put on their vampire outfit and call up some poor fish on the telephone and then hang up the receiver and throw back their heads and laugh triumphantly, derisively, sardonically, knowingly and lustily. In fact, it makes you sick. Pretty soon the poor fish comes over. When the vamp hears his footsteps on the piazza, she poses the sofa pillows, lights two cigarettes and waits for him to come and kiss her over the back of the divan. She never says a word, but looks at him out of her eyes, very knowingly, with her elbow wrapped around her head. That is when the man ought to say "Oh, shoot!"

Bed Time Tales

John's Forgetting

"John! Will you please go in and shut the front window and lock it tightly? I am afraid a storm is blowing up, and Mary's bird is right by the window. Be sure it is locked." Mother's voice called from upstairs where she had gone to put little Helen to bed.

"Yes, Mother, I will," replied John pleasantly, and Mother went on with her work, which kept her so busy that she didn't come down stairs again all evening. "I'll get up in a minute," John said, when his mother called; "but the storm isn't here now, and I'm sure Mother wouldn't mind if I just finish this chapter before I do anything." So he snuggled all the tighter into his big easy chair and read and read and read. And so it forested was he that he never thought of windows or locks or birds or anything again!

At nine o'clock Father called him to go to bed, and off he went, without a thought of his mother's request.

Way in the middle of the night he was awakened with a crashing sound. Such a storm as there was! The trees bent and blew, the shutters banged and the lightning flashed brilliantly. Mother and Father were both up and were going around from bedroom to bedroom shutting the windows and seeing that everything was all right. "Don't bother to go downstairs," John heard his mother say; "for there was only one window open, and John closed that for me this evening."

Instantly he was wide awake. He closed the window? He had not closed the window? He had forgotten all about it. His little sister Mary's bird was right by that open window, where it would get all the force of the storm! Something must be done at once.

Of course he knew he could call his father and that he would go down and close the window. But please forgive me, and I'll remember, someday, John didn't want to do her next time. And of course that. He wanted to prove to himself that he could be manly, even though he had carelessly forgotten his duty.

So he slipped out of bed, put on his slippers and started downstairs. Just then a great flash of lightning lit up the sky.

It lit up the sky and nearly sent John staggering back to bed. How he did hate lightning and storms and thunder, and all that! But he kept bravely on. Down the stairs, into the living room and up to the open window he went. And he was none too soon, for the rain was splashing in on the little bird even then.

He pulled the window down and locked it tightly; groped in the coat closet for a dust cloth and wiped up the water that had come in. And then he bounded up the stairs two steps at a time and ran into his mother's room.

"Mother," he said breathlessly, "I forgot what you told me about the window, but I closed it now, and the bird is all right. Will you down and close the window. But please forgive me, and I'll remember, someday, John didn't want to do her next time. And of course that. He wanted to prove to himself that he could be manly, even though he had carelessly forgotten his duty."

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY.

O.O. MCINTYRE.

New York, July 22.—Skatrina, a lady bear who performs at Luna Park, is in deep disgrace and in the language of Broadway she is "off the stuff." Read on, gentle reader, the worst is yet to come. Skatrina got stewed the other night, yessir, just plain spiffy and carried on like a longshoreman on Saturday night.

As a portion of her contribution to the historic art, Skatrina drinks a bottle of red liquid which looks like whiskey, but which is merely sweetened water. Then she pretends like she is soused and wobbles around, falls down and is carried off by imitation Red Cross nurses.

Her keeper was discharged the other day and to get revenge he filled Skatrina's bottle full of real 10 play whiskey. Skatrina drank it down and smacked her lips. Then she walked over and slapped the orchestra leader on his bald head.

He protested and she jumped down and gave him a bear hug which made his trick shirt slip from its moorings and fall to the floor. He beat a hasty retreat and Skatrina was on her way over after the thin blonde man who handles the snare drum. By this time she was roped and led away. A half hour later she was in bed ringing for ice water every few minutes.

The Sun Dodgers' club has been organized. It has resulted from the craze for the Hawaiian dances. The Hawaiian hour is from two to four. They do the hula-hula dances in the morning because it's cooler and then the eukalade sounds better at night after things have settled down a bit.

Nearly every lively place has its Hawaiian dancing floor now. The Majestic has installed a special floor to dance on that is presided over by a group of eukalade players who play Hawaiian tunes. Down at the Biltmore they have a special Hawaiian room and the Vanderbilt is contemplating one. A year ago Hawaiian musicians were almost starving in New York—now they are being begged to accept engagements.

The hypothesis that a shark will not attack a bather has been exploded finally, at any rate. The killing of the young boy by a shark in the ocean has thrown a great scare into the bathers at all the resorts. The surf will be much more popular than the deep water for a while, but immersion in it is just as healthful. And sharks do not seek their prey in the breakers.

Rupert Hughes, the novelist, is about to be mustered into service of the United States for duty on the Mexican border. He is a captain of the Sixty-Ninth regiment. When word was received that things were mussy on the border, Ray Long, a Chicago editor, hopped the first train for New York.

Hughes is writing a novel for Long's magazine and he feared the worst—that is feared that the novel would be about half completed and well, you can never tell what those Mexicans will do.

He found Hughes drilling at an armory. He begged him to be excused for a few days but Hughes was sure he could finish the novel in Mexico at odd times. Long finally inveigled him to the Biltmore, got him in his suite and then turned the key in the door. Typewriter and paper were waiting and it is said that Hughes got so interested that he forgot war and began where he left off. The next day, however, he was back drilling again—and up to date that novel is still uncompleted.

Rest!

My feet are wearied and my hands are tired,
My soul oppressed;
And with desire have I long desired
Rest—only rest.

'Tis hard to toil, when toil is almost vain
In barren ways;
'Tis hard to sow and never garner grain
In harvest days.

The burden of my days is hard to bear
But God knows best;
And I have prayed—but vain has been my prayer—
For rest, sweet rest.

'Tis hard to plant in spring and never reap
The autumn yield.
'Tis hard to till and when 'tis done to weep
O'er fruitless field.

And so I cry a weak and human cry,
So heart-oppressed,
And so I sigh a weak and human sigh
For rest, for rest.

My way has wound across the desert years
And cares infest
With nights of slavish toil and bitter tears
I pine for rest.

Though I am restless still 'twill soon be o'er,
For down the west
Life's sun is setting and I see the shore
Where I shall rest. —Exchange.

GERMANS ADMIT A REVERSE

SENATE PASSES THE LARGEST NAVAL BILL IN HISTORY OF U. S.

Washington, D. C., July 22.—The naval appropriation bill, with a three year building program including the immediate construction of four dreadnaughts, four great battle cruisers, and 58 other craft, passed the senate late yesterday by a vote of 69 to 8.

It carries $315,826,843, or $45,857,588 more than the total as the measure passed the house.

Many proposals to curtail the enormous building increase written into the measure by the senate naval committee were defeated overwhelmingly, and as soon as final passage was announced the senate voted to insist on its amendments and send the bill at once to conference. The house is expected to insist upon its building program and a long struggle is in prospect before agreement is reached.

Two Democrats, Senators

Thomas and Vardman, and six Republicans, Senators Clapp, Curtis, Grönna, LaFollette, Norris, and Works voted against the bill, which has had the support of leaders of both parties during the week of debate that preceded passage.

A seven hour speech by Senator LaFollette against the measure and a clash between Senators Reed and Oliver over the proposal to print as a public document the Bethlehem Steel Company's arguments against a government armor plant delayed the final vote.

On his return he vainly sought reconsideration, charging that Senator Oliver, as an owner of steel stock, had voted money into his own pocket by supporting the proposal.

Senators Tillman, Swanson and Lodge were appointed conferees on the bill. The house conferees will be chosen Tuesday, and daily sessions probably will be held thereafter by the conference committee.

Construction of 157 vessels, including 46 capital fighting ships, within three years at an estimated cost of $588,180,576, is contemplated in the senate program, the largest ever proposed in congress. Of the total appropriations in the bill, $110,726,160 is for the first year's building expenditures.

As it passed the house, the measure made no provision for a continuous building program and authorized only 72 ships, including five battle cruisers and no dreadnaughts.

The bill passed the house June 2 was reported to the senate by the naval affairs committee June 30, after conferences had been held with President Wilson, Secretary Daniels and navy department officials. Increases in the building program followed in a large measure the recommendations of the general board of the navy.

NO TREATY CONCLUDED, IS CLAIMED

London, July 22.—The report that a secret treaty had been concluded between Austria-Hungary and Germany providing for the unification of the armies and conduct of foreign affairs, is emphatically denied by the Hungarian press bureau, according to the Vienna correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph. The bureau characterizes the report as pure invention.

DRASTIC MEASURES ARE TAKEN TO PREVENT SPREAD OF CHILDPLAGUE

New York, July 22.—Quarantine regulations of increasingly severity due to fear of the spread of infantile paralysis were reported today from a number of cities and towns near New York.

At Mountainview, N. J., about 100 summer colonists from New York City with a few from Newark, have been ordered to leave their bungalows along the Passaic river and return home. Some of them who reached this city today said that a wreck on the branch railroad line prevented them temporarily from leaving Mountainview, and many who had gone to the railroad station were forbidden to return to their cottages. All houses where children from New York have visited were put under a months quarantine. The Erie railroad which serves thousands of commuters has sent out a bulletin to all its station agents warning them to notify prospective passengers that children will be barred from most of the stations along the line in New Jersey and Pennsylvania. A total of 239 cases of infantile paralysis are reported from the state of New Jersey. The cases in Connecticut number 59. New York state out-

BRITISH HOLDING FIRST LINE TRENCHES

Berlin, July 22.—(Via London)—An attack by the British against the Germans at Fromelles north of Labassee, on Wednesday, resulted in the loss by the attackers of more than 2,000 men killed and nearly 500 men taken prisoner, according to a statement given out by the war office today.

The statement admits that the German line along a front of about three kilometres (2 miles) south of Hardecourt, was driven from its first trenches into its second trenches. Enemy forces, the statement says, have penetrated into the German salient at the wood of Varmandovillers.

MAY ACCEPT CARRANZA PROPOSAL

Washington, July 22.—Acceptance of the Carranza government's proposals for a joint commission to settle difficulties between the United States and Mexico appeared certain today. An announcement was expected momentarily. The only delay apparently was for time for a reply from Carranza to suggestions that the proposals be amended somewhat.

There have been indications that President Wilson is for more general discussion than that involved in the proposed Mexican communication of July 11 just made public in Mexico City. The note would hold the commission to three subjects—withdrawal of American troops, arrangements of a reciprocal agreement under which troops of either government might cross the border in pursuit of bandits and investigation of the source of bandit raids on American towns.

Americans would like a widening of the scope of discussion.

GETTING AHEAD IN LIFE

Many, many times we have heard men say that they work every day and that they are not able to get ahead of the game—that it takes everything they earn to keep the wolf from the door. We have seen many of these kickers loafing—not all day, but just killing in hours that could well be spent in improving their minds or doing some of the little things that are always to be found to do around the home if the man will only do them.

You all know the story of Abe Lincoln's life. You know how he studied under very adverse conditions, and the height of the pinnacle to which he finally climbed. We have in mind another fellow who did likewise. True he has not yet placed his feet on the topmost rung of the ladder of success, but he is pretty well toward the top.

We were raised on a farm. On the adjoining farm was a German family. One son early in life, took an especial liking for study.

He followed the plow in the field with the other sons of the family and the hired help. When the days were hot and it was necessary to rest the horses occasionally, that boy did not kill the time by swapping stories with other boys. He studied the book which he carried with him at all times. He was a great fisherman, and while he was seated on the bank of the river waiting for the fish to bite, he was pursuing some good book. Often he was to be seen wending his way from school studying as he walked. Coming home from school he would stop in the cornfield in the fall and cut corn until darkness was nigh, but when he took up his journey homeward his nose was again hovering over the pages of the book. That is the way that this lad gained his start in education. Today he is superintendent of the Portsmouth schools. Frank Appel got on in life by improving his spare moments.

Another case comes to the front. This time it is the progress of a day laborer. We worked alongside the man for two years in a timber yard, and have known him since we were a lad. But the greater part of his life has been spent as a railroad section hand. The man was industrious and saving. After several years of hard labor he saved the price of a lot and a modest home, the latter built partly on borrowed money. He did not depend upon his earnings as a section man. Many times we have seen him come home from his hard day's labor on the track, eat a bite of supper and then pound nails and saw boards until almost the midnight hour. Thus he worked. His modest home was soon paid for, and more rooms had been added, the latter all done with his own labor after his day's work had been done. Today that man has one of the prettiest homes with all modern conveniences that can be found anywhere.

So it goes. These two concrete examples are only two of many. They are examples of intensified work that enters into the life of every man who attains success. They got ahead in life by improving their idle hours. So must you.—Oak Hill Press.

ALL ABOUT WAR

A subscriber finds fault with the newspapers these days. He says nearly everything in the papers "is about war," and he wants to know if it would not be well to print less upon the subject of strife and more upon some other subject.

No, it would not be well to do so. War is the biggest subject in the world today. There are more people involved in it, there are more people thinking about war and the activities pertaining to war, than are thinking about anything else. There is more to be said upon the subject of war and peace—than upon anything else under the sun. So the newspapers do well to print everything they can get upon the subject, especially since they are only serving the public by carrying the matter in which the public is most interested.

Nobody is more tired of war, and of the things pertaining to war, than are the newspaper people. The war has not been a benefit to the papers in any sense of the word. They have suffered financially to as great extent as anybody else—and have made no profit whatever out of anything pertaining to the strife. The correspondence that have been employed, the telegraph and cable tolls that have been paid, the increased cost of everything entering into the making of a newspaper—these things have fallen heavily upon the publishers of newspapers.

As for the boys in the offices, who have had to make the papers through these trying days, they have suffered mentally and physically far beyond what the average reader imagines. Never in the history of the world has it been harder to run a newspaper; never have there been so many anxieties upon the part of those in the offices; never have there been so many heart-breaking, health-destroying propositions arising from hour to hour. With the whole world on fire, with millions and millions of human beings involved, with empires at stake, with all industries trembling lest something happen to bring economic disaster to us all—it is not strange that those who sit in the offices and help to make the newspapers should be dropping away one by one from nervous prostration.—Columbus Dispatch.

KEEP COOL

Many deaths are reported in the larger cities because of the intense heat. It may seem almost like a joke to say that the remedy for this is to "keep cool." But it is a sensible prescription. Keep cool in the mind. Don't fret or get impatient or quarrel, but keep cool—that's the preventive. There is no sense in keeping irritating food out of the stomach if one allows irritation thoughts to get into his head. Keep company with the trees and patronize the hammock in the shade, and the old "sun stroke" will keep its distance.

How well will this advice fit now when we are just about to enter a political campaign. Keep cool. Just think that the country can get along without you. Your politics doesn't keep a star in its place. Your anxieties are the waves on the surface that are today and tomorrow are forgotten. Keep cool. The world will get along better by your doing so, and the big, blazing sun won't be half so mad at you.—Ohio State Journal.

IF THE MASKS WERE OFF

Do you suppose the time will ever come when all men and women are sincere and will say to one another exactly what they think? And do you suppose the world would really be any happier in such a time? Would the old man whose days are nearly spent be any happier, if he knew precisely what the younger folk think about him? Would the young woman walking in pride on the street or lolling in her limousine be happier, if she could read the thoughts of those she meets? Would the callers be happier if they knew what was said about them when they left—if, instead of a kiss and a "Come again, dear," there were a blow and "I hope you will never come again?" Would the people themselves who look an admiration they do not feel and speak compliments they do not mean be any happier, if all were known?

Probably, if conventionalism offered no restraint and all that one thinks were public property, especially the property of those whom the thoughts concerned, the world would not be a very pleasant place. We shall need the restraint of conventions and the veneer of politeness until we all do and think the right things. And that day, assuredly, is far off.—Columbus Dispatch.

It may be just as well that we have a heated spell occasionally, if for no other reason than that it has a tendency to make us appreciate our shade trees. It's worth noting that even the man who seems to take delight in chopping down, in a few hours, a tree which it may have taken the sunlight and rain a century to produce does mighty little chopping while the demand for shade is strong.—Marion Star.

Everyday Wisdom

VAMPIRES

Nobody should be scared of a vampire. A vampire is a big bluff. She has lumber elbows and sits among her thirty or forty sofa pillows and smokes two cigarettes. If a vampire comes into a man's life he should walk right up to her and say, "Oh, shoot!" and throw sofa pillows at her and shoot her away.

Vampires say, "I seen" and "I ain't saw him." As long as they confine their conversation to "Do you love me? Do you love me? Do you love me, darling?" they get along fine, but the minute they branch out into the English language they show they didn't get past the sixth year in the grade school.

If you go to moving pictures much, you would think the world was full of vampires. Moving picture actresses are of two kinds: the "awfully wicked" and the "awfully innocent." The latter wear curls and go barefooted until they are thirty and they have never been kissed, until somebody from the city falls off a cliff into their simple lives. Vampires, on the other hand, work twelve hours a day at being wicked. They get up about noon and put on their vampire outfit and call up some poor fish on the telephone and then hang up the receiver and throw back their heads and laugh triumphantly, derisively, sardonically, knowingly and loftily. In fact, it makes you sick. Pretty soon the poor fish comes over. When the vamp, hears his footsteps on the piazza, she paces the sofa pillows, lights two cigarettes and waits for him to come and kiss her over the back of the divan. She never says a word, but looks at him out of her eyes, very knowingly, with her elbow wrapped around her head.

That is when the man ought to say "Oh, shoot!"

BedTime Tales

John's Forgetting

"John! Will you please go in and shut the front window and lock it tightly? I am afraid a storm is blowing up, and Mary's bird is right by the window. Be sure it is locked." Mother's voice called from upstairs where she had gone to put little Helen to bed.

"Yes, Mother, I will," replied John pleasantly, and Mother went on with her work, which kept her so busy that she didn't come down stairs again all evening.

"I'll get up in a minute," John said, when his mother called: "but the storm isn't here now, and I'm sure Mother wouldn't mind if I just finish this chapter before I do anything." So he snuggled all the tighter into his big easy chair and read and read and read. And so interested was he that he never thought of windows or locks or birds or anything again!

At nine o'clock Father called him to go to bed, and off he went, without a thought of his mother's request.

Way in the middle of the night he was awakened with a crashing sound. Such a storm as there was! The trees beat and blew, the shutters banged and the lightning flashed brilliantly. Mother and Father were both up and were going around from bedroom to bedroom shutting the windows and seeing that everything was all right.

"Don't bother to go downstairs," John heard his mother say; "for there was only one window open, and John closed that for me this evening."

Instantly he was wide awake. He closed the window! He had not closed the window! He had forgotten all about it. His little sister Mary's bird was right by that open window, where it would get all the force of the storm! Something must be done at once.

Of course he knew he could call his father and that he would go down and close the window. But his father didn't want to do her next time. And of course that. He wanted to prove to him—she did.

O-O-MEINTYRE.

New York, July 22.—Skatrina, a lady bear who performs at Luna Park, is in deep disgrace and in the language of Broadway she is "off the stuff." Read on, gentle reader, the worst is yet to come. Skatrina got stowed the other night, yes, just plain spiffy and carried on like a longshoreman on Saturday night.

As a portion of her contribution to the histrionic art, Skatrina drinks a bottle of red liquid which looks like whiskey, but which is merely sweetened water. Then she pretends like she is soused and wobbles around, falls down and is carried off by imitation Red Cross nurses.

Her keeper was discharged the other day and to get revenge he filled Skatrina's bottle full of real 10 play whiskey. Skatrina drank it down and smacked her lips. Then she walked over and slapped the orchestra leader on his bald head.

He protested and she jumped down and gave him a bear hug which made his trick shirt slip from its moorings and fall to the floor. He beat a hasty retreat and Skatrina was on her way over after the thin blonde man who handles the snare drum. By this time she was roped and led away. A half hour later she was in bed ringing for ice water every few minutes.

The Sun Dodgers' club has been organized. It has resulted from the craze for the Hawaiian dances. The Hawaiian hour is from two to four. They do the hula-hula dances in the morning because it's cooler and then the eukalike sounds better at night after things have settled down a bit.

Nearly every lively place has its Hawaiian dancing floor now. The Majestic has installed a special floor to dance on that is pre-disposed over by a group of eukalike players who play Hawaiian tunes. Down at the Biltmore they have a special Hawaiian room and the Vanderbilt is contemplating one. A year ago Hawaiian musicians were almost starving in New York—now they are being begged to accept engagements.

The hypothesis that a shark will not attack a bather has been exploded finally, at any rate. The killing of the young boy by a shark in the ocean has thrown a great scare into the bathers at all the resorts. The surf will be much more popular than the deep water for a while, but immersion in it is just as healthful. And sharks do not seek their prey in the breakers.

Hughes is writing a novel for Long's magazine and he feared the worst—that is feared that the novel would be about half completed and well, you can never tell what those Mexicans will do.

He found Hughes drilling at an armory. He begged him to be excused for a few days but Hughes was sure he could finish the novel in Mexico at odd times. Long finally inveigled him to the Biltmore, got him in his suite and then turned the key in the door. Typewriter and paper were waiting and it is said that Hughes got so interested that he forgot war and

This Is "Daugherty Day" In City, Big Reception Planned

In its usual hospitable way, Portsmouth will entertain Hon. Harry M. Daugherty, Columbus, candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator this afternoon and evening.

It is "Daugherty Day" and every voter, regardless of political affiliations is invited to meet the distinguished visitor at the public reception to be held at the Washington Hotel this afternoon.

D. Willard Gustin, secretary of the Daugherty Campaign Club of Scioto county has announced that Mr. Daugherty would arrive in Hamilton this morning from Marietta and would come to Portsmouth by the way of Harrisonville in an automobile.

All those owning automobiles and desiring to assist in showing the distinguished visitor that Portsmouth is "The City That Does" are urged to meet at the Gallia street esplanade at one o'clock. The trip will then be made to Harrisonville, where Mr. Daugherty will be met and escorted to the city.

The Washington Hotel has been decorated in honor of the visitor and immediately after he arrives in the city, he will hold a public reception in the lobby of the hotel. Voters will be given a chance to become acquainted with him and discuss the issues of the day.

It is expected that several thousand people will gather at the Gallia street esplanade, Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock to hear the address given by Mr. Daugherty. The River City and the Lewis Brass Bands have been engaged to escort the candidate for senatorial honors on the Republican ticket and the reception committee from the hotel to the Gallia street esplanade. The address will be given from a platform, unless it rains. Should it rain, the address will be given at the club rooms of the Scioto County Republican Club on Gallia street.

Several organizations have planned to attend the meeting. Among those are: The Lincoln Republican Club, The Yaller Daws and several delegations from towns and cities in Scioto county.

Friday evening, Frank Stanton, of the Yaller Daws, mailed invitations to the members of the local kennel and the Jackson kennel. The invitation reads:

"Attention Yaller Daws! The Hon. Harry M. Daugherty, a member of the local kennel, and Southern Ohio's candidate for Republican nomination of United States Senator, will be in Portsmouth Saturday, July 22.

"During the afternoon he will meet the people of Scioto county at the Washington Hotel, and you are urged to come and meet Brother Daugherty personally and welcome him to the city."

"At seventy-three in the evening, he will give a speech on Upper Market Square, next to the Security Bank. In case of rain he will speak in the Republican Club Room, over the Royal Saving and Loan Company. Attend the speech and give Brother Daugherty's meeting some pep and cheering."

All members were present at last night's meeting, the Messrs. Purdum, Seudder, Nourse, Hadson and Jackson.

Continued expansion of the city is admirably reflected in action taken by the school board at an adjourned meeting, when a strip of valuable ground on the hilltop, 300 by 300 was purchased from Judge Noah J. Dever as a site for a new 12 room school building.

The consideration was $15,000.

The site is located between Off-nere street and Franklin avenue and on the north side of Kinney's Lane. The new building when completed will virtually stand at the head of Baird avenue. Judge Dever donated sufficient ground to the board to dedicate a street to the west and to the north of the proposed building and an alley on the east of it.

Competition in an architectural way is to be confined to resident architects and they have been asked to submit plans for the new building at a meeting the board will hold on Friday, Aug. 11.

Edgar 12, and Hanzel 10, two sons of David M. Berry, Back Run, Jefferson township, who in a statement to the officials Friday admitted that he killed his neighbor, Madison Powell, Wednesday morning with a revolver, were taken back to their home Friday afternoon by Policeman John Nance.

The two boys were arrested on the afternoon of the tragedy and brought to the county jail as witnesses. Since their father made a statement in which he professes he shot Powell in self defense, the two boys have been allowed to go home.

By the aid of a clever ruse, Sheriff E. W. Smith obtained the first statement from Berry Thursday evening at the county jail.

Although considerable evidence of a circumstantial nature had been obtained at the scene of the tragedy by Sheriff E. W. Smith on his visit to the Powell and Arrangements are well under way for a magnificent parade of union hosts on Labor Day.

JURY DISAGREED IN LAND CASE

After deliberating eight hours, the jury in the case of Levi D. York against W. F. Seymour, suit for possession of some real estate located in the West End mill lot, reported to Judge Will P. Stephenson, West Union, who is presiding on the local bench this week that they were unable to arrive at a judgment. This was ten-twenty o'clock Friday night. The case was submitted to them at 2:20 o'clock Friday afternoon.

At 8 o'clock the jury reported and informed Judge Stephenson that they were unable to arrive at a judgment and the judge sent them back to the jury room. Two hours later they reported with the same information. It is understood that innumerable ballots were taken all of which stood about six to six or seven to five.

Wellston Woman Run Down By Auto In Ironton, Injuries Fatal

Ironton, July 22.—Mrs. Gertrude Runkle of Wellston, who was struck by the C. C. Clarke automobile Friday about 11 o'clock died at the Keller hospital about 2:40 p. m. yesterday as the result of the injuries sustained.

From all that could be learned, Mrs. Runkle and her sister, Mrs. Helen Barlow, left Wellston on the D. T. & I. Friday morning with the intention of going to Cabin Creek, W. Va., to visit another sister, Mrs. Anna McBrayer.

After their arrival here which was about 11 o'clock, Mrs. Runkle left her sister in the D. T. & I. depot to go to the C. & O. depot to see when they could get a train for their destination.

The accident occurred at the corner of Second and Center streets. Mrs. Runkle evidently was crossing from Edelson's corner across the street, and the Clarke car was coming up Second street and was driven by John Ralston Clarke, a grandson of C. C. Clarke. No one else was in the car at the time but young Clarke.

H. D. Minces, who saw the accident, says that Mrs. Runkle stepped in front of the car which knocked her about five or six feet by the impact. The car rolled her over several times before it could be stopped, which was within almost a length of itself. Mr. Minces hurried to assist the fallen woman but before he could get there the front wheels of the car passed over her. Mr. Minces said the car was running about 10 or 12 miles an hour at the time the accident occurred.

INTERIOR PHILIPPINE CONDITIONS PICTURED IN LETTER BY LOCAL BOY

Conditions of the interior, Philippine Islands, are portrayed in a letter from Sergeant James Skidmore, received by Adam Frick.

The letter follows:

"Your letter and copy of The Times received and I will answer. I am glad, indeed, to hear from you and of the city of Portsmouth. I note that times are good in the city and I trust that they remain so."

"I am still stationed in Manila. I have not had the time to go inland as much as I have wanted. So I am not prepared to report on conditions as I would like. But I was out in the interior as far as Camp Staenzburg, sixty miles from Manila, which is a brigade post. The Ninth Cavalry and the Second Field Artillery are stationed there."

"It is one of the best on the island. The quarters are good and the government has improved the conditions. The people are mostly farmers. They seem to be doing well. They are all friendly and the young people speak English. They have good schools and churches. They have a splendid police system and national troops are stationed in the different towns."

"Many of the native buildings are constructed out of bamboo. You can travel for miles out in the interior and see no other kind of buildings."

"Rice, sugar-cane and hemp are their main crops. Although they raise lots of other kinds of crops. You can see cocoanut and banana fields."

"There is a railroad running out of Staenzburg. It is a single track road and is owned by English capitalists."

"Taking the conditions of the natives around Staenzburg, they are excellent. They have improved as much as any could have expected. I am sure that the natives out near Staenzburg are capable of self-government and I trust our government can find the way clear to grant them independence within the near future."

"I see the army increase till has passed and is now a law. This means our people will soon have a larger army. I see that Mr. Hughes, New York state, is to run against President Wilson. While he has a good record and no doubt is a fine

The Ironton Irontonian Saturday morning said:

"The Ohio Valley Traction company is now completing grade and fill work at Sedgwick, just below Ironton but it will be some little time before the work is completed. It is not thought now that the cars will be in operation between Portsmouth and Ironton before the late fall. The grading at Hanging Rock has been giving a great deal of trouble, due to slips in the hill land."
